

K. C. COMPANY SOON TO ERECT CLUB BUILDING

First Unit of Community House At Kimberly To Cost $30,000

Kimberly-Clark company will erect a clubhouse and community building at Kimberly, the first unit of which will cost $30,000. The project was authorized by the board of directors of the company and approved by the mill council at Kimberly. The council has voted to assume management of the clubhouse.

Building of this unit, which will be commenced as soon as weather conditions permit, will mean the realization in part of the plans laid in 1920. The board decided that although the times are not favorable to going ahead with the complete building, yet the need for a recreation center for the mill and the village is so great that a beginning should be made. The building will therefore be erected in sections.

The first unit will include a gymnasium, classrooms, bath and lockers. It will be built in the village park on Main-st and will be ready for occupancy by next fall. Plans for the entire building will be prepared at once, but no definite information could be given as to when the second and third units will be erected.

A superintendent will be provided for the clubhouse at the company's expense. The mill council will have complete control of the clubhouse and make such rules for the management of it as it sees fit.

A similar clubhouse was built by the company at Niagara, a few years ago and has been a success there as a recreational and social center.

OFFERS TO DIE FOR CRIME OF HIS SON

Father Love Will Be Tested In Appeal To Tennessee High Court

(Special to Post-Crescent) Memphis, Tenn.—Through the ages, mother-love has won for crying children, has been allowed to sacrifice itself. It has been idealized in poetry and song, has achieved the title of world's greatest ideal. But unselfish idealized father-love passes unnoticed. And now when a father attempts to make the supreme sacrifice for his son, his sacrifice is refused. The test case in the trial here of John W. Hudson Jr., for the murder of Mrs. Hattie Ferguson. Here is the story from its beginning: Hudson Jr. evidence shows became the intimate friend of Mrs. Ferguson, though he was legally bound to a wife and was father of a boy, 3, and though she, likewise, was a wife and mother.

WOMAN VANISHES
On Feb. 8, 1922, Mrs. Ferguson went for a ride with Hudson. Then she vanished. No one knew her fate until— Her body two months later was fished from a stream. A gaping bullet hole above her eye told how she had met death. Hudson Jr. was sought in July he was seized as a traffic violator in Chattanooga and was identified through a police bulletin photograph. On the train en route to Memphis young Hudson told officers, they say, that he killed Mrs. Ferguson. "She was the only woman I ever loved," they quote him as saying. "We quarreled while keeping a rendezvous. I shot to frighten her. The bullet took effect."

TRIED FOR MURDER
Hudson Jr. was put on trial for murder.

In the course of the trial Hudson Sr., 68, hobbled to the witness stand and confessed in open court he had fired the shot that killed Mrs. Ferguson when he was striving to wrest a revolver from her grasp.

Despite that, the jury within an hour found Hudson Jr. guilty of murder and voted death in the electric chair.

Attorneys of Hudson Jr. now have appealed to the supreme court.

Will father-love win? Will the aged man be permitted to give up his few remaining years of life that his son may live?

That now rests with the supreme court—and if the supreme court says no, possibly with Tennessee's governor.

GOLD BEARING CLAY FOUND IN GERMANY

By Associated Press
Coblenz, Germany—Gold deposits have been located in the iron-ore mountains near here. One ton of clay earth, which was analyzed as an experiment, was found to contain 44 grams of the precious metal. This assay aroused the interest of German experts, in view of the fact that there are gold mines in operation which net only 10 grams of gold per ton of earth. Bearing deposits have been uncovered in several different parts of the mountains.

FIRST TRAIN FROM SOUTH BREAKS WAY HERE DURING NIGHT

Record Shipment Of Mail Is Received When Service Resumes

The first mail from the south to arrive in the city of Appleton in more than 33 hours, and the second in two and a half days, was brought in at 2 o'clock Friday morning on Train No. 101 of the Chicago & Northwestern railway.

Train and mail service became impaired after 6 o'clock Tuesday evening. During that night trains were stalled at Appleton Junction and at Neenah. Railroad snow plows opened the way, and the trains were able to move out at about 5 o'clock Wednesday evening. After that the tracks again became filled with snow so as to make it necessary to annul train schedules for another 20 hours. A northbound and a southbound train found their way through to this city Thursday afternoon.

After the arrival of Train No. 101, other trains began to follow so that the schedule is again partially resumed. Fourteen pouches of letters alone were brought to the postoffice Friday morning, the greatest amount ever received, at the postoffice. The average amount is about 2 pouches. As a result city letter carriers were heavily burdened.

Rural mail delivery was partially resumed Thursday, some of the carriers making short trips into the country on foot. They made but little headway. Joseph Tennie, driving a horse was able to make the greater portion of his route, but could not get beyond Greenville postoffice.

Bus service has been partially restored on the Appleton-Kaukauna line, following the work of the county tractor and snowplow.

Marooned Here
R. T. Carpenter of the town of Maine has been snowbound in Appleton since Tuesday. He is a member of the agricultural committee of the county board and was called here to assist in the selection of an agricultural agent for Outagamie-co. He made the trip over the 800 Line which up to Friday had operated no trains on this end of the division since the blizzard Wednesday.

RURAL CARRIERS OBLIGED TO TRAVEL OVER ROUTES AFOOT

Road Blockade Prevents Complete Delivery Of Mail In Country

Country roads again are being opened up through attempts of isolated farmers to break road and through the work of county and town road employees. Some of the farmers are forced to drive over fields to reach the city. They are following the trail of the milk man hauling for the larger creameries and condenseries.

Two of the rural mail carriers made a part of their routes by horse and cutter Thursday. Robert Rohm covered 4 1/2 miles on the Freedom-rd. Joseph Tennie, who carries on Spencer-rd and Hortonville-rd, got as far as Greenville, which was the best done that day. He had to drive over fields often. He covered 2 miles. Charles Rogers, who is substituting for John Freude on route 2, slung a pack over his shoulder and walked as far as the county asylum, returning on Brickyard-rd, a distance of seven or eight miles.

WALK MANY MILES

The other carriers, Frank O. Letts, George Grimmer, Arnold J. Fetting and Chester Riesenweber all delivered on a part of their routes, walking the way. Mr. Riesenweber made 5 1/2 miles on the Kimberly-rd and returned by street car. Mr. Fetting covered 9 1/2 miles on his route on Little Chute-rd, French-rd and Ballard-rd. He observed that the Kaukauna bus brought 4 men to shovel snow but gave up in the attempt until the county tractor began to plow out a way. Busses are now operating on that route. Mr. Grimmer, who starts out on State-rd and then follows School Sec. un-rd, covered about 9 miles of his route on foot. Pathmaster were working on the roads and it was hoped

THE BEAUTY OF HEALTH

Newspapers and magazines are devoted columns to magic or over-night beautifiers. There is a beauty in health that is far more attractive to men than mere regularity of features or a made-up complexion. Health should be the first essential to women who want to win and hold admiration, respect and love. At the first indication of ill health as indicated by dark circles under the eyes, a sallow complexion, headaches, backache, pain in the side, nervousness, irritability and melancholia, women should take Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, the standard remedy for women's ills, which has been proven to help 95 out of every 100 women who try it.

Two Small Fires

Two small fires occupied the attention of the fire department Thursday, the first a chimney fire occurring at 9 o'clock in the morning at the home of Mrs. Rose DeGuire, 705 Fremont-st, the second a smoking furnace, occurring at 8:40 Thursday evening at the home of L. Blinder, 652 State-st.

Mackville-rd is in bad condition. The route followed by Carrier Letts is on Mason-st road to its extremity and then over the field about 20 rods from the Mackville-rd to a few miles beyond, crossing his own farm and those of H. W. Halverson, Otto Mossholder and others. The way was broken open by the milk carriers. Mr. Letts wrenched his leg while walking Thursday. It is possible that patrons on the Mackville-rd will have to erect temporary boxes on this emergency road if they wish to have delivery. Farmers are walking miles to neighbors to borrow newspapers to read.

HAVE KIDNEYS EXAMINED BY YOUR DOCTOR

Take Salts To Wash Kidneys If Back Pain, You or Bladder Bothers

Flush your kidneys by drinking a quart of water each day, also take salts occasionally, says a noted authority, who tells us that too much rich food forms acids which almost paralyze the kidneys in their efforts to expel it from the blood. They become sluggish, and weaken; then you may suffer with a dull misery in the kidney region, sharp pains in the back or sick headache, dizziness, your stomach sours, tongue is coated, and when the weather is bad you have rheumatic twinges. The urine gets cloudy, full of sediment, the channels often get sore and irritated, obliging you to seek relief two or three times during the night.

To help neutralize these irritating acids, to help cleanse the kidneys and flush off the body's urinous waste, get your ounces of Jad. Salts from any pharmacy here; take a tablespoonful in a glass of water before breakfast for a few days, and your kidneys may then act fine. Thus famous salts is made from the acid of grapes and lemon juice combined with lithia and has been used for years to help flush and stimulate sluggish kidneys; also to neutralize the acids in the system so they no longer irritate, thus often relieving bladder weakness.

Jad Salts is inexpensive, cannot injure and makes a delightful effervescent lithia-water drink. By all means have your physician examine your kidneys at least twice a year.

COMMENCE JUNIOR H. S. STUDIES AT 1ST WARD SCHOOL

Pupils Show Liking For Science And Vocational Study Topics

Although Appleton has not yet established a regular junior high school schedule, some junior high school work is being introduced into the seventh and eighth grades of the ward schools. In the first ward school, two subjects have been introduced which are proving popular with the children.

One is general science, which is being taught in an elementary way, but in which the boys especially are interested. Some of the simple experiments in science which can be demonstrated by the teacher are being given and topics of seasonal interest scientifically are discussed by the children.

The other one is hard to name but has to do with the study of vocations. Teachers realize that children in the eighth grade are not prepared to say what they want to be nor will the desires in the way of vocations of these students be the same four or five years from now, but they feel that the children will be more interested in some vocation for having known about it.

DISCUSS JOBS
The various occupations are discussed and they are not confined to the so-called "white collar" jobs. Some boy or girl in the eighth grade who is interested in that particular kind of occupation will take it for a topic and will find out by means of interviews just what opportunities are open in that field, how much education is required or advisable, how much money it pays, and what the chances for advancement are. After the facts of the position are discussed by the person who has chosen that topic, all the children will tell what they know about that particular job.

These vocational studies are not made by an older person for the children, but they have to find out their own information. A person who is doing that kind of work is interviewed and asked all about his work. A set of questions is asked which covers the most important phases of the requisites and when the children come back, they give their classmates a pretty good idea as to what it takes to be a dentist or a plumber.

Many of the jobs which the children's fathers have are discussed. Not long ago one little boy who is interested in farming and poultry, brought a hen to school to illustrate some of his points on poultry raising. The children go into the study with much enthusiasm and are always anxious to talk to people who happen to be in the profession which they have just studied.

FORESTRY CLUB IS TO GIVE PROGRAM

A trip to a lumber camp is contemplated by the Forestry club of Lincoln school if it can raise enough money to finance the visit. A program will be held at Lincoln school next Monday evening to raise at least part of the money. Entertainers will include Harry Oakes, Mrs. Mabel Meyer, W. C. Ford, the boys' quartet, Carl Jelen and William Schiefer, Jr. A small admission fee will be charged.

The Forestry club is composed of boys interested in forest preservation. The boys have studied forestry, tree surgery, tree planting and lumbering and last year they trimmed the trees on Lincoln school grounds after they were damaged by the sleet storm.

GREAT INTEREST IN DADS' MEETING

The announcement Thursday that next Monday evening's meeting of the fathers' club will be devoted to discussion of physical education in schools has aroused widespread attention and it is believed a record breaking number of men will attend the meeting. Interest is as great among the men who are opposed to a program of physical education in the schools as among those who want it. A great deal of illuminating discussion is expected to result.

Superintendent Fairchild of the Fond du Lac schools will be the chief speaker. He will discuss the system used in Fond du Lac and the results it has achieved. Every man in Appleton is eligible to become a member of the fathers' club.

Look For 1923 Boom In Auto Demand That Will Eclipse Record In 1922

Farmers Expected To Invoide Car Market—Dealers Expect Shortage And Possible Increase In Prices

Local automobile dealers are preparing for what may be termed a banner year for sales. Although 1922 was in itself a gratifying automobile year in point of number of cars sold, this season promises to be even better.

That happens, to be without exception the united sentiment of all the leading garage owners of the city. The prediction is not based upon a shallow optimism devised to create sales, but is founded on experience, automobile sales principles and business conditions in general, it is contended.

Already the sales, although this is not the favorable season, are assuming proportions with which those of the same period last year can hardly compare. Increased factory production indicates that this condition is not limited to localities but is nationwide in extent.

Failure of the manufacturers to make prompt shipments during the last two months, added to the railroad car shortage, points to an undersupply of demand. Although the dealers are somewhat loth to talk automobile shortage, fearing that it may bring about an unfavorable reaction, yet they admitted that such a shortage is imminent. They are not using it as a whip, but fear it as much as the purchaser, there being fewer lost sales or extra costs in an oversupply of cars.

FARM OUTLOOK GOOD
Improved conditions in agricultural districts in the way of larger crops and better prices, which mean an increase in purchasing power of the farmer's dollar, automobile salesmen consider a favorable sign and look for greater sales from that direction, all the more so because the farmer has not been crowding the market the last two years.

Dealers have been assured that automobile prices are now at rock bottom and that therefore no further decreases are to be looked for this year. On the other hand, slight increases are likely on account of increased cost of production and materials, such as steel, lumber and rubber.

The growing popularity of closed cars will be more noticeable this year than ever. It is at this time of the year impossible to supply the demand for this type of car, and most factories have enlarged their capacity for its production. The decreased cost of these cars, together with the growing demand for comfort, has made them very desirable for all year, all-weather use.

HIGHEST YEAR
"The outlook for spring business is very good," said Ambrose Wilton of the Central Motor Car company. "Since last August, which is the beginning of our automobile year, we have received more Buick automobiles than in the corresponding period of any preceding year. The same condition prevails everywhere. I am told that the number of cars sold or ordered practically offsets the present stock of cars."

"This means that if the present demand continues, we are facing a shortage of cars in spring. The tendency is toward increase in prices, rather than decreases, although we have received no announcement as yet of any raise. Prices are lower now than they ever have been, considering the quality and equipment of cars. I understand that the manufacturers will fall short of their closed car orders about 10 per cent. The present production of this type of car is about 50 per cent. But I understand that this will be increased about 50 per cent this year. Even this will not be great enough to keep up with the demand for the next five years."

The same optimistic feeling prevailed at the Valley Automobile company, agents for Studebaker cars.

EXPECTS INCREASE
"The Studebaker people predict one of the best automobile years they have ever had," was the statement of R. F. Ware, sales manager. "Every indication points to the same thing in this locality. More interest is being shown in buying at this time than was shown a year ago. Prices are not guaranteed, because they are governed by the demand. I look for a possible increase in the cost of cars."

Sales of the Walter Implement and Auto company, Dodge dealers, increased 40 per cent last year, according to R. K. Walter, sales manager. The fact that January of this year was in point of sales the best January the company has had, leads it to have high hopes for the spring and summer. The company will add Oshkosh Four Wheel Drive trucks to its line.

"We received our first January shipment on Feb. 5," said J. T. McCann, Appleton agent for the Cadillac, Hudson and Essex motor cars and White trucks. "In previous years, when we ordered cars in January, we received them in January. I don't like to talk about car shortage or increased prices, but it is evident that the man who buys an automobile now will not lose money. Ninety per cent of our business is in closed cars. Production at the factories is about 60 per cent. It is type of car that is most likely to suffer a shortage."

EXPECTS PROSPERITY
Although the manager of the Appleton Motor company was absent from the city, information imparted at the garage is that January sales of Reo cars and trucks were better than in any corresponding period and that the company is looking forward to a prosperous year.

"The automobile business has been steadily increasing from year to year, but I look for an unusually large increase this season," it was said by O. R. Kleehn of Fox River Motor Car Co., the local Chevrolet agency. "Last year at this time there was no business to speak of and farmers did not begin buying until spring. But this year sales have been keeping up all winter which is partly due perhaps to the mild weather we had in December and January. The farmer who has not been buying for a few years is already beginning to take a new interest. We have never faced a more promising season. The Chevrolet people have just opened a branch at Janesville; hence, we are not so apt to suffer on account of the railroad car shortage. Closed car production is now 50 per cent, but this will be increased to 80 per cent next year."

H. H. Gorges of the M & M Motor company calls 1923 the banner year for the sale of Haynes and Moon automobiles. Production of Haynes cars has already been increased 30 per cent and similar increases in production are reported by the Moon manufacturers. A 10 per cent increase in prices expected on account of the increased cost of materials. But no advances have been as yet announced.

BOOKS ORDERS
St. John Motor company is still in its first year of business in Appleton and no comparison could be made there between this year and that previous. But present interest in cars and orders already placed point to a very prosperous year, according to Clarence St. John, manager. August Brandt expects to increase his sales of Ford and Lincoln automobiles more than 30 per cent this year. He is at present receiving more orders for closed cars than he can possibly fill. He sees no forthcoming decrease in price, but rather a slight increase.

Production of Jewett automobiles will be increased from 22,000 to 50,000 this year, according to information received by Charles F. Hermann of the Hermann Motor Car company, which is completing the construction of its new garage on Superior street. Paige cars, for which this company also has the agency, are also being manufactured in greater number than ever before. The Milwaukee distributors have not kept a car in storage this winter, all automobiles being sent to the dealers as fast as they were made. Mr. Hermann expects to make this the best year.

Closed car production is now 50 per cent, but this will be increased to 80 per cent next year."

H. H. Gorges of the M & M Motor company calls 1923 the banner year for the sale of Haynes and Moon automobiles. Production of Haynes cars has already been increased 30 per cent and similar increases in production are reported by the Moon manufacturers. A 10 per cent increase in prices expected on account of the increased cost of materials. But no advances have been as yet announced.

BOOKS ORDERS
St. John Motor company is still in its first year of business in Appleton and no comparison could be made there between this year and that previous. But present interest in cars and orders already placed point to a very prosperous year, according to Clarence St. John, manager. Some models cannot be gotten fast enough and December shipments have not yet been received, all of which seems to point to shortage of cars. Maxwell and Chalmers motor cars are sold at this garage.

SCHOOLMASTERS CLUB POSTPONES ITS MEETING

Mrs. Joseph Schultz and Mrs. Oscar Kunitz returned from Milwaukee Tuesday evening after attending the funeral of Mrs. Edward Greens, whose husband formerly lived in Appleton.

New Spring Frocks Of Cantons, Taffetas, Flat Crepes and Tricosham

Women and Misses, who are keen to appreciate Smart Styles and Real Value, will find them here, not only the First Expression of the coming season's vogue, but also Surprising Savings.

at $16.75 and up

Once every few years the leaders of fashion usher in a season with everything new.

This season styles have changed completely.

With the change to longer skirts, every line of coat or dress is changed to correspond. Costumes as now worn by all well dressed women are seven to nine inches from the floor.

And with this longer skirt come graceful low girdles and picturesque slender lines. The Beautiful Taffeta model pictured is a perfect example of the season's styles.

So new, so changed are the dresses that you will be interested in studying all that is new.

Wanted is the dress that shows the new drapery, the loose uneven panel that adds to the slender line of the skirt.

Elaborate trimmings with cross-stitch embroideries, lace and gold effects are shown.

Sleeves plainer than a year ago—but still adding to the charm of a gown, in loose flowing fashion, sometimes gathered into narrow cuffs, or in the very new long and tight sleeve, widening above the elbow.

Colors gay as for years, with a special vogue for brown, pretty yellow and summer green.

To know what is new, to know the best of everything new, you need but to spend a few moments in our Dress Department. Every style shown was selected for style and quality. Not one of these dresses is "skimpy" in material or making merely to set a seemingly low price. You can select your dress here and know you will be delighted in every way with your selection.

STATE BANKS AND FEDERAL RESERVE SYSTEM

According to Manager Director Eugene Meyer, Jr., eighty-five per cent of the loans made by the War Finance corporation have been to state banks. He infers that in the neighborhood of eighty per cent of the bank loans made by the corporation would be unnecessary if the banks belonged, as they may, to the Federal Reserve system. Not being associated with the federal system, these banks are limited in the extension of their credit.

It is reported that the government contemplates a campaign to induce state banks to join the Federal Reserve system. It would be well if this campaign were successful, for it means simply the marshalling of our financial resources for strength and elasticity. However, no attempt should be made to force state banks into the federal system. The plan to consolidate all banking strength should be effected by sound inducements. If the federal Reserve act is not wholly satisfactory to state banks, is it not possible it can be made so by amendment, and would not such legislation, if it brought the state banks in, be worth while?

The further consolidation of bank resources is of national importance. It will mean the enlargement of credit facilities in practically every community in the country. It will mean greater security in time of financial strain. It will tend to hold prosperity against depressing influences. Just as consolidation of banking strength is of value to a city or community so is it to the country as a whole. The logical way to bring this about is through affiliation of state banks with the Federal Reserve system.

FRANCE AND GERMAN INDUSTRIALISM

Mr. John Moody, of New York city, gives an ingenious analysis of the Franco-German differences, resulting in the French seizure of the Ruhr district. As his conclusions rest mainly on obvious facts, they seem to be generally acceptable. Mr. Moody says that the government of Germany has been and is weak and incapable. The industrialists took advantage of the administration. So far German reparations have been paid by American and other foreigners, who speculated in German marks, which, Mr. Moody adds, are worth nothing. Germany has a reserve of $250,000,000 of gold, which he believes is sufficient for rehabilitating her finances.

Victim of circumstances. France invaded the Ruhr to force Germany to a settlement. Mr. Moody estimates that Germany, with the mark worthless and a $250,000,000 gold reserve, is better off economically than any nation in the world, having the smallest debt, and could pay in reparations a reasonable amount, ample to extricate France and Belgium from their difficulties and to enable an international debt adjustment.

It cannot be doubted that Germany has been controlled by a group of powerful industrialists, in a sense, deliberate and possibly malicious profiteers, whose activities have delayed general recovery and settlement in Europe. Economists are agreed that the mark is worth nothing and new money will have to supplant it. Inasmuch as the German government could not discipline spoilsmen, the rigor had to be exerted from the outside. If France can bring about an understanding soon and return from the Ruhr, Europe should revive fast commercially.

TRUE GREATNESS

February, with its birthdays of our greatest Americans, once more inspires us to thoughts of patriotism and service. The lives of Washington and Lincoln are again reviewed by school, pulpit and press, and their characters are held up as models worthy of emulation.

It is right that this be done, for the lessons to be learned are most valuable. But it is important that we understand the real lessons these characters portrayed and that we emphasize the characteristics which made them great. What do their lives teach us—greed, hate and war, or—service, love and peace?

While Washington was first in war, he was also first in peace and in the hearts of his countrymen. Washington was a great man because he was a good man. In his heart there was kindness to all; and he applied this spirit in every day life. It was not so much Washington's genius as a military leader that made him great, nor his statesmanship later; it was his largeness of heart.

This was Lincoln's greatness, also. He was no military leader, and he was no astute statesman. His chief ambition was to serve and to love his fellowmen. He took delight in being kind, both to friend and foe. He proved that he is greatest who serves best.

The spirit of kindness in both these men was not confined to their fellows. It included the dumb animal as well. The story of Lincoln's rescue of the pig under the fence is a classic in humane circles, and its simple lesson of kindness has been taught the world over.

In these days of unrest, and strife and war, let us turn our thoughts once more to the lives of these greatest Americans. Though they lived in times that tried men's souls—times more difficult than ours—they never failed to practice the spirit of kindness and mercy. It was this in their lives that made them immortal. The world's of the poet, so true to them, are still true today:

He prayeth best who loveth best
All things, both great and small,
For the dear God who loveth us,
He made and loveth all.

FINANCING A CITY'S CHARITIES

Among the large cities Cleveland sets the example for business-like financing and management of hospitals and charity associations. It is conspicuous as the community which seems to have solved successfully one of the most important of social problems.

Cleveland raises more than $4,000,000 a year to support its 124 charities. The money comes not only from business men and companies but from the people. Last year, according to Mr. Fred W. Ramsey, president of the Cleveland Welfare association, 300,000 men, women and children contributed to this community fund.

Allotments are made to the charities on a systematic basis, in accordance with their needs. Expenditures are checked up periodically, and thus the organizations are urged to run their affairs economically and efficiently.

Charity is a community problem, a duty. All citizens are under obligations to one another. Cooperation in a community fund brings about cooperation in other public movements.

TODAY'S POEM

By Berton Braley

NONPRODUCERS

The Socialists get all het up about the leisure class
Which doesn't do a lick of work yet rolls in Unearned riches,
That little band of rich supported by the mass
Which has to toil for livelihood on farms, in shops and ditches;
But members of that leisure class are very few and far,
It really doesn't matter much what aims they are pursuing,
The actually wasteful bunch of nonproducers are
The people working hard at things that are not worth the doing!

The washroom boys; the checkroom girls, the doormen
in the stores;
The hatters making derby hats throughout this mighty nation;
The men who want to watch your car; the long,
long-winded bories
Who made an after dinner speech as wear-some oration;
The business men who fill their time with conferences and
Or write dull books about their lives—dull lives,
though somewhat checkered;
The overdriven printer folk with livelihoods to gain
By printing congressmen's remarks—"extended in the Record."

These are a few of myriads who toil and scheme and sweat
At doing wholly useless things that really do not matter,
And yet they're working hard enough, they hustle
and they fret,
They use a lot of energy and make a noisy clatter.
The world would be a better place if all this busy mob
Were switched to labor worth the while; to delving and to hewing.
(Still you and I might suddenly be looking for a job,
If no one worked at anything that wasn't worth the doing.)

PRACTICALLY FOOD PROOF COUGH-MEDICINE

Although there is no going around the fact that in most cases the intelligent administration of medicines helps patients to become well in relation to conditions accompanied by cough, I wish to say once more that I know of no cough medicine which deserves the name of cough cure in any case. So, no one can say that he understands that I claim to have a cough cure, I claim nothing except a desire to suggest to those who will monkey with their own coughs a medicine which, if it does no good, will at any rate do no harm, a food proof cough medicine which I warrant only not to kill. Of course I do not offer any assurance whatever that the illness responsible for the cough will not kill you while you are waiting for my medicine to take hold, if you disobey the directions and go on fooling with the medicine after the guaranty period has expired.

The most dangerous ingredient in my cough medicine is sodium citrate. Readers may recall that I direct on sodium citrate a few days ago and pointed out the fact that they used to feed it to babies in their bottles for the modification of cow's milk, sodium citrate being an alkali; nowadays lime water or milk of magnesia or a cereal water is generally used instead. The formula calls for an ounce of sodium citrate. Should any one make a mistake and swallow this under the impression that it is salts—no harm done.

I offer this cough medicine in this unethical way chiefly because grandmothers are decadent, no longer to be depended on in such emergencies. They have been sophisticated by the specious arguments of the nostrum gentry, so that when a granny tells you what to mix for it nowadays you must be wary, for she may include in the recipe some harmless sounding dope she has learned about from reading the ads of the prescription fakes.

This is the formula:

Citrate of soda 1 ounce
Glycerin 1 ounce
Juice of one lemon
Flaxseed, whole teaspoonful
Water 1 pint
Spirits of peppermint 4 drops
Pour the boiling water upon the flaxseed and allow to steep (do not boil) half an hour. Strain, and add the other ingredients. For a child some sugar may be added for further sweetening if desired. The dose is a tablespoonful for adults, a teaspoonful for children, every two hours, for two days.

This cough medicine is in my judgment, the most efficient all round "cough and cold cure" for the home treatment of any and all acute respiratory infections accompanied by stuffing, snuffing, sneezing, coughing, running nose, hoarseness, feverishness, or soreness in throat or chest, provided proper medical attendance is not available. Mind, I don't flatter myself that my old fashioned cough medicine is as good as proper individual medical cure in any case. I merely warrant it not to kill within the first 48 hours of such illness. Who ever persists in taking this medicine for more than 48 hours does so at his own peril. Certainly when the trouble is not mending within that time, a doctor should be consulted.

The medicine acts a gentle diuretic (increasing kidney function), diaphoretic (producing sweating), sedative expectorant and an alkali (opposing acidosis.)

QUESTIONS AND ANSWERS

The Electric Idea

Can an electric current not over 50 or 60 volts build our muscle while we hold it?—K. J. H. Jr.
Answer—Punching the bag or a boxing partner or shoveling snow for the same length of time is a better way to build muscle.

Gas Stove in Kitchen

Is one's health likely to be injured if the gas stove in the kitchen has no vent pipe and is not connected with the chimney in any way? Could a landlord be obliged if we ask to have it done?—R. M. B.

Answer—Any stove burning any kind of fuel should have a pipe to carry the products of combustion out of the house. A gas stove without such pipe endangers the health of persons in the house. (Copyright, National Newspaper Service.)

Washington Sidelights

BY HARRY HUNT

Washington — The ambition of James Couzens of Michigan is to become the senatorial nut-cracker.

Not a cracker of jokes—please do not misunderstand! But, instead, a cracker of thick-shelled craniums, in order to admit more light of reason and fact.

"It's odd, but it's a fact," Couzens remarked the other day as we were riding from the Senate office building to the Capitol in the government motorcar. "I have a hunch that I have installed solely to save senators the labor of walking, 'that the average legislator is not open to reason on the subject of public ownership."

"Say 'public ownership' to him and he draws into his shell. He can't be coaxed out. The thing I should most like to do would be to crack that shell. I'm getting together a lot of facts and figures that I hope will form a club heavy enough for the job. For sooner or later that shell will have to be cracked. He'll have to face facts. And the sooner the better."

It didn't occur to me at the time, but I'm going to suggest to Couzens the next time we meet that he propose to the Senate that the private senatorial car line be turned over to Couzens to operate, at a profit. Couzens' reaction doubtless would be to demand why a free government car line for senators is good if government rail lines for taxpayers who would pay fare and freight, is unthinkable and socialist.

Bureau chiefs trying to save proposed appropriations for their own divisions almost invariably suggest to General Lord, director of the budget, that the amount needed can easily be saved by cutting down the appropriation for someone else.

"They're like the Scot who was dying in a hospital," Lord says. "Before I die," he told the nurse, "I want to hear once more the music of the bagpipes."

"So they—sent for the pipers, and they came to the hospital, and played some stirring tunes for their stricken countryman. The Scot immediately chirped up. He got well. "But all the other patients died."

John T. Adams, Republican national chairman, has sailed for Egypt and the Holy Land. He expects to visit the tomb of King Tutankhamen, 3000 years deceased.

Pat Harrison, Democratic senator from Mississippi, suggests that John may be studying styles in tombs preparatory to a G. O. P. burial in 1924.

Senator Caraway, Arkansas also a Democrat, takes a different view.

"He's seeking new and novel ideas so as to make his party really progressive," says Caraway. "Any idea as recent as 1200 B. C., however, might be too radical and revolutionary for the Republicans."

Knute Nelson, grizzled senatorial Thor, was 80 years old on Groundhog Day, Feb. 2.

King Haakon of Norway, where Nelson was born, sent him a radio message of good greetings.

Harry Daugherty, attorney general sent him a box of choice chewing tobacco.

He appreciated the message, but he enjoyed the box of plug.

At a recent hearing before the Judiciary Committee, of which Nelson is chairman, he borrowed a chew from Daugherty, having exhausted his supply. He told Daugherty later it was the best he had ever tried. And Daugherty, always thoughtful, remembered Knute's taste when his birthday rolled round.

As a hard-chewer, Nelson is now undisputed Washington champion. His only runnerup in recent years was the late Chief Justice White.

Electricity Adds To Life's Perils

BY DR. R. H. BISHOP

The widespread use of electricity is making accidents due to it more and more common. Even now the third rail and the live wire are responsible for many injuries and deaths.

The third rail and swinging wires should always be carefully avoided. When a high current of electricity passes through the body it causes paralysis of the nerve center in the brain which controls breathing. Consequently the symptoms of electric shock are similar to those of suffocation.

It is often a problem of some difficulty to rescue a person who has come in contact with a high current. In some cases the current can be shut off and this should be done as speedily as possible.

Otherwise your plan is either to separate current from man or man from current.

A person in contact with a live wire or rail carrying an electric current will transfer the current to the rescuer if the latter puts himself in the line of passage.

Therefore, the rescuer must not touch the body of a person touching a live wire unless his own body is insulated.

He must act very promptly for the danger is much increased the longer the current is allowed to pass through the victim's body.

If possible the rescuer should insulate himself by covering his hands with a rubber coat, rubber sheeting or even several thicknesses of dry cloth. Silk is a good non-conductor.

In addition he should complete his insulation by standing on a dry board, a thick piece of dry paper or even a dry coat.

Rescuing calls upon all the ingenuity of the rescuer. Some cases of electric shock from powerful currents are hopeless from the beginning.

It is impossible to tell this at first, however, and therefore an attempt should be made to save the victim by prompt treatment. This treatment is artificial respiration.

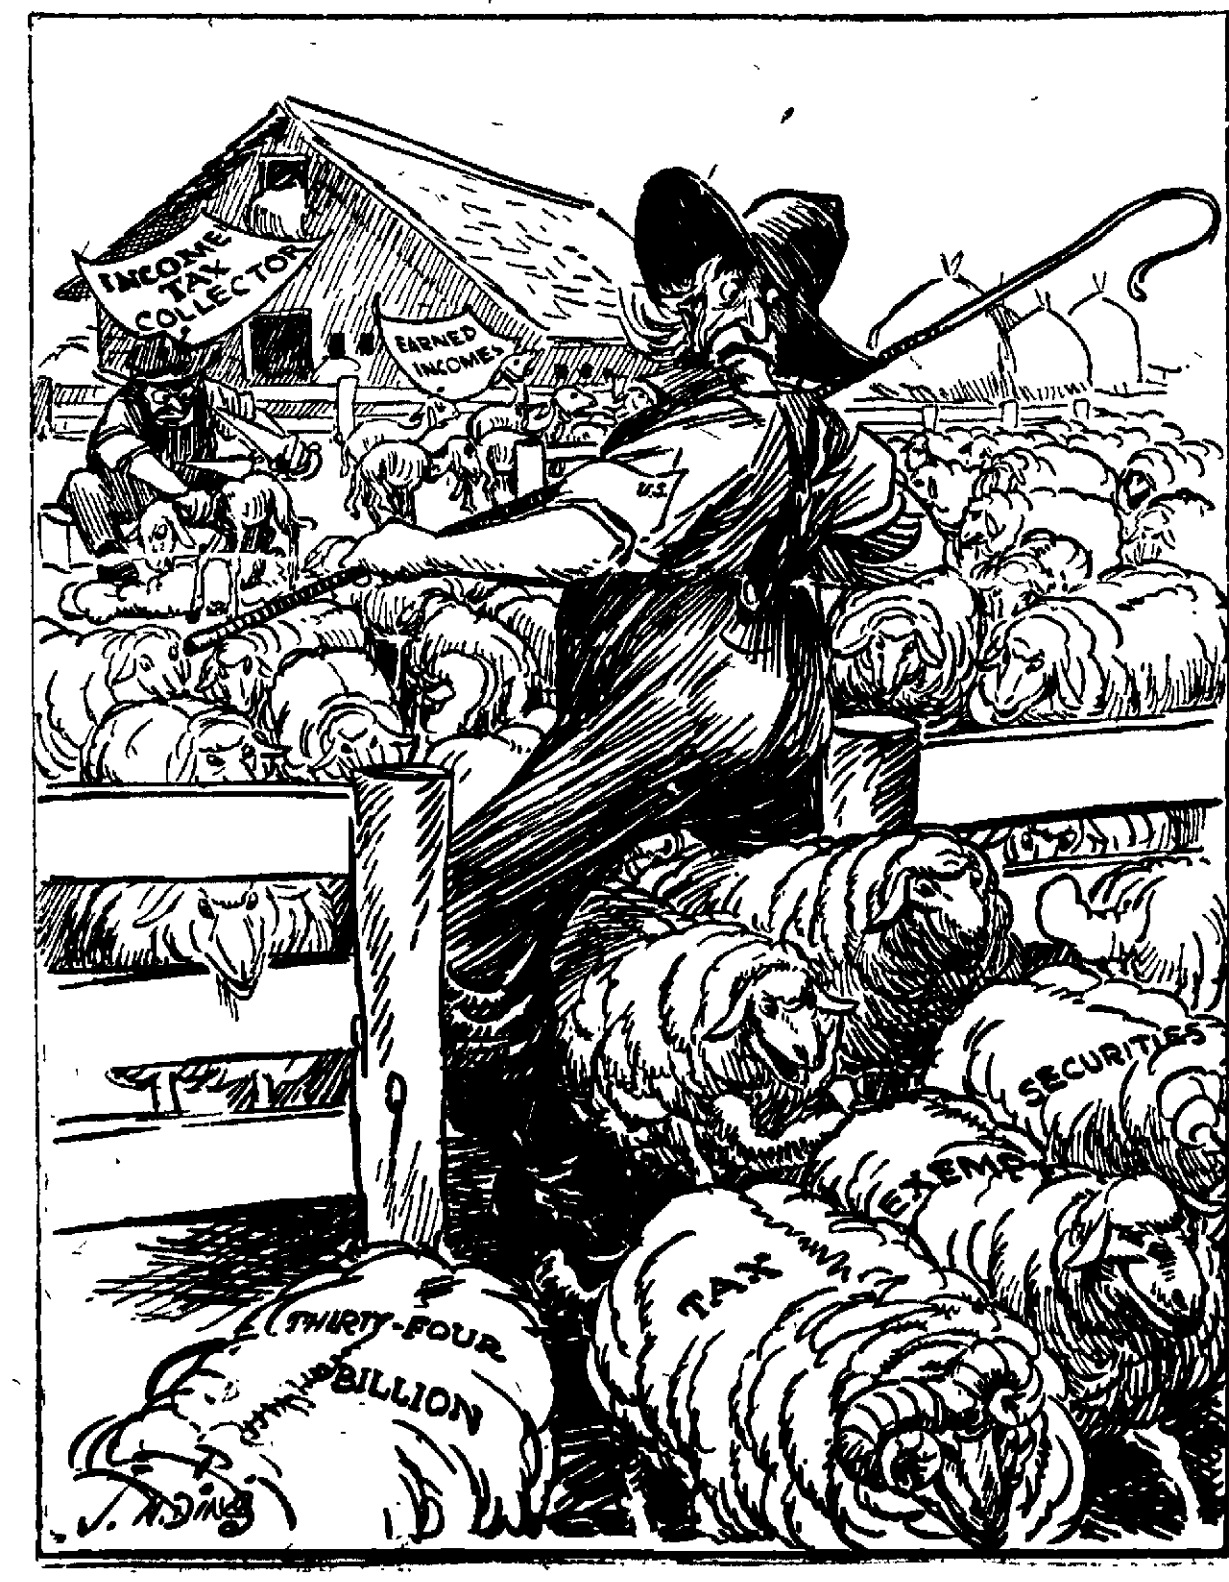

Burns from electricity should be treated like other burns.

Q. What is the trick in the statement that the Mississippi River flows uphill? C. T. C.

A. Motion "up or down" properly defined, refers to movements against the attraction of gravity or to the those acting with it. Water acted upon by gravity alone flows down hill and the Mississippi River, which rises at a point about 1,500 feet above the level of the sea, is not an exception to the rule. The statement that the Mississippi flows up hill is based on the idea that "up" is away from the center of the earth and "down" towards it. If these were the only meanings of the words, then it might be said that the Mississippi River flows up hill, for the polar radius of the earth is over 12 miles shorter than the equatorial radius and as the Mississippi River extends over 180 of latitude, its proper proportion of this difference amounts to more than 4 miles, the river's source being that much nearer the center of the earth than its mouth.

Q. How can moths in fur rugs be

A. The Department of Agriculture says that such rugs should be saturated in gasoline. This will kill both larvae and moths.

Q. How long does it take a silkworm to spin a cocoon? A. G. L.

A. About three days are occupied by the worm in spinning its cocoon.
The fibre of silk ranges in length from 800 to 1000 yards, and under the microscope can be seen to be double. It is derived equally from the two silk-producing organs of the silkworm.

Dr. Rivers Coming For Child Clinic

Babies Will Be Examined At Second Last Session Next Tuesday

Dr. Blanche Horner-Rivers, who did such splendid work at the Appleton Womens club health clinic for preschool age children last month, will return to Appleton on Tuesday for another clinic. Dr. Rivers is most anxious that women who brought their children last month bring them again so any improvement may be noted. After not seeing the child for a month, Dr. Rivers can more readily decide whether there has been an improvement than the mother who sees the child every day.

After the March clinic, Appleton will not be entitled to any more help from the state board of health because the county board has not filled the position of county nurse left vacant when Miss Bertha Schultz resigned. The ruling of the board recently makes it impossible for Appleton to have free clinics when the county board has not complied with the law in having a nurse for public health work.

All women who have children under six years of age who have not been examined at the clinics are urged to make use of these last two. Women are also urged to take an active part in the demand for a county nurse, whose expenses are required of every county in the state under the law.

Singer Has Desire To Gain Fame

Public Will Have Chance To Help Miss Sindahl At Concert Tuesday

On Tuesday evening Appleton people will have an opportunity to make a real contribution to the musical talent of this country by making the benefit concert given by Miss Lillian Sindahl of Neenah a success.

Miss Sindahl, who is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. William Sindahl of Neenah is one of the few students of great promise who have attended Lawrence Conservatory of Music and who have had the courage and persistence to go on in spite of every difficulty. After winning the prize offered by the Wisconsin Federation of Womens clubs, Miss Sindahl went to Chicago to sing and there her voice was discovered by F. W. Neuman, a Chicago impresario. He persuaded her to study at the Chicago College of Music.

While in Chicago Miss Sindahl has done many things to assist in paying her expenses. Besides hours and hours each day of hard practicing, she has had many concerts in and around Chicago. She has appeared several times as the soloist with the Chicago Symphony orchestra of 50 pieces. Womens clubs everywhere have aided Miss Sindahl in her work for recognition. The Appleton concert is being conducted for Miss Sindahl by Lawrence Conservatory of Music. Her sorority sisters, the Mu Phi Epsilon group, are selling tickets for the concert and practically all the ticket receipts will be clear for the young artist. Many Appleton people went to Neenah last year to hear her, but press reports from cities where she has appeared recently show that she has greatly improved. Edward Reitzner is ill at his 531 Outagamie-st.

SEEK CHIEF FOR FIRE DEPARTMENT

Police And Fire Commission Carefully Considering Apointments

Kaukauna—Considerable discussion has been aroused here over the choice of the fire and police commission for fire chief in Kaukauna. Thus far the commission has only hired one man, Robert Heinen, as truck driver. It is understood that there will be two drivers who will work on shifts. The rest of the men in the department also will work in shifts and according to present plans, there will be four men to a shift. No appointments for firemen have as yet been made but it is quite probable that the men who have been serving the city as fire fighters will be engaged.

It has been said that there are several applications for the chief's position, including one from an out of the city man, who attended the last meeting of the commission at its request. The action cannot be taken until he had been hired and there was an immediate buzz of protest against securing an out of town man for fire chief.

Members of the commission have made it plain, however, that they will hire one capable of the position, regardless of what town he comes from. If a chief cannot be found in Kaukauna who will impress the commission as to his fitness for the position, men from other cities will be considered, they said.

The recital is being put on by the Senior Christian Endeavor society of the church. Mr. Taber will be assisted by George Mecholson, also of Appleton.

The program includes a variety of selections. The organ to be used is one of the best in the city, having been installed in Reformed church a few years ago.

Plans are being made to conduct a ticket selling "rush" in a day or two. Several members of the Christian Endeavor society will conduct a house to house canvass in an attempt to sell tickets.

Uniformity Is Aim Of New U.S. Divorce Bill

Special To Post-Crescent
Indianapolis.—To make marriage more difficult and divorce easier, or to facilitate the former and restrict the latter, isn't the object of the proposed "uniform marriage and divorce law," introduced by Senator Capper and Representative Fairchild in Congress at Washington, according to Mrs. Edward Franklin White, deputy attorney-general of Indiana, who drafted the bill.

The idea simply is to put into effect one set of rules for the whole country.

For our 48 states and the District of Columbia, we have at present 49 such sets of rules, Mrs. White points out.

And they conflict, she adds.

AMENDMENT IS PROPOSED
 In addition to the proposed law, there have been introduced, both in the Senate and House of Representatives, resolutions for amendment of the federal constitution, so as to permit Congress to enact the desired legislation.

"Different laws in different states on contracts, insurance, corporations and the like," says Mrs. White, "may not be a great evil, but different marriage and divorce laws are, because of their effect on the legitimacy of children, the descent of property and many other things concerning wedded couples and their issue."

"A couple may be living in obedience to the laws of one state and in violation of the laws of another."

"Some states lay no prohibition upon racial intermarriages, some do. They prohibit marriages between persons within certain degrees of relationship by blood, others are silent on the subject. Some provide age limitations, others none."

"The grounds for divorce range from none, in South Carolina, to 14 in New Hampshire."

"If each state would recognize the legality of a divorce granted by the courts of any other state this might not matter, but they do not."

Mrs. White recalls that a measure was prepared by the Uniform Marriage Laws Committee 11 years ago, but only two states have adopted it. The pending bill provides that application for marriage licenses must be published two weeks before a ceremony can be performed. In practically no other respect are present difficulties added to.

For divorce, five grounds are recognized: Infidelity, cruel or inhuman treatment, abandonment or failure to provide throughout a period of one year, incurable insanity, and conviction of an infamous crime. A divorced person cannot be remarried within a year after the granting of a decree.

Adventures Of The Twins

Old Witch's Ruse Goes Well at First

But—

It all happened just as the Sour Old Witch had said.

You know she had given Light Fingers, the bad little fairy, a magic egg. "If you break this egg in the road in front of the twins," she said, "a stone will instantly appear in their path, so high and so wide the magic automobile will never get past it. Then you can shove the Twins out and take the automobile home to your master."

And it had all happened just as the Sour Old Witch had said—that is, this much happened. The stone wall appeared and the magic car had to stop or get wrecked.

Light Fingers, up in his tree-top (where he had hidden in order to throw down the egg at the proper time) laughed. He was so tickled about everything that he forgot about grabbing the car as the Sour Old Witch had said.

But somebody else was watching. The Green Wizard had seen everything. He had helped the Twins right along and he wasn't going to desert them now. So he thought and thought and thought.

Suddenly he slapped his knee. "I have it," he said loudly. His voice echoed and re-echoed over hills and forests and valleys like thunder.

Off he strode over his tree-tops and stepped down to the ground where a three-ornered door led into Brownland. He knocked three times and instantly a Brownie stuck up his head. "May I see Mr. Pim Pim, the King of the Brownies?" asked the Green Wizard.

"Certainly, sir," said the Brownie. Pim Pim appeared at once and the Green Wizard whispered something into his ear.

"My goodness! Is that so?" exclaimed the Brownie. "Of course I'll help you. I'll get Mike Mole at once and all his helpers. We'll get that wall down in a hurry."

How To Get A Good Photograph

SUGGESTIONS FOR MEN

By Pirie MacDonald

1. Choose your photographer more carefully than your tailor.
 2. If you want to look decorative go to a photographer who specializes in women's pictures.
 3. If you want to look like a man with lots of fight and "go" in you, select a photographer who can at least match you in physical strength and give you a bodily as well as a mental challenge.

4. Don't expect a good picture from a photographer who can't arouse your interest and draw you into a controversy.

5. Don't take your wife with you.

6. You will be photographed unless you are feeling it.

7. Don't expect "stunt" photography or freak effects to impress men who may see your picture.

8. Don't dress up for a photograph; look just as you ordinarily do.

9. Don't think how you are going to look.

10. Don't insist that your photograph must look exactly as you really do look. If you do you'll be disappointed.

Can you look into a camera and await the result with equanimity? Or have you made up your mind that there's no use trying—you can't take a good photograph?

Most people belong in the latter classification.

Now, it is a fact that even a tip-top photographer can't do certain things just because he can't.

Ira L. Hill and Pirie MacDonald have something to say on the subject.

The former has photographed most of the women of New York's "40s" and thousands of stars on the stage and screen with equal success.

The latter specializes on men as sitters. He says they're harder to "take," therefore in his opinion more interesting. He has photographed nearly every masculine notability who has visited Manhattan in two decades.

"A woman," says Mr. Hill, "may not be beautiful, but she wants her photograph to suggest beauty, to bring out all she has. Few women want photographs of their souls or their clothes. They want their faces—at their best."

"A woman is most beautiful in good clothes and among beautiful surroundings. So I try to make my studio a place of beauty. With fine paintings, hangings and music, I induce the mood most propitious to beauty."

"Men," says Mr. MacDonald, "want a photograph to suggest beauty, to bring out all she has. Few women want photographs of their souls or their clothes. They want their faces—at their best."

PIRIE MAC DONALD

SELECT A PHOTOGRAPHER WHO CAN MATCH YOU FOR STRENGTH.

Can you look into a camera and await the result with equanimity? Or have you made up your mind that there's no use trying—you can't take a good photograph?

Most people belong in the latter classification.

Now, it is a fact that even a tip-top photographer can't do certain things just because he can't.

Ira L. Hill and Pirie MacDonald have something to say on the subject.

The former has photographed most of the women of New York's "40s" and thousands of stars on the stage and screen with equal success.

The latter specializes on men as sitters. He says they're harder to "take," therefore in his opinion more interesting. He has photographed nearly every masculine notability who has visited Manhattan in two decades.

"A woman," says Mr. Hill, "may not be beautiful, but she wants her photograph to suggest beauty, to bring out all she has. Few women want photographs of their souls or their clothes. They want their faces—at their best."

Poor Old Hymen Gets A Blow; License Depends On How Much Lovers Know

State In West Says Mental Test Must Be Applied Before Knot Is Tied—Marriage Slump Will Result From Bump

BY MARGARET ROHE
 New York.—Wow! Hymen has been handed quite an awful jolt. I fear out in the free and open west, where mighty mountains rear their snowy crests o'er prairies and a man's a man always—at least that's what the titles in the movies always say.

It seems some people have their doubts that movie lore is true. They think a man is off a child, so mental tests are due. They think in ventures marital each person's loveless brain equivalent, mentality to child, twelve, should contain. And so in Portland, Oregon, a Mrs. Simmons, a bright, clubwoman, politician and a woman erudite, in Legislature's introduced a very vital bill which seems to promise Hymen it will either make or kill. They're lots of other reasons for forbidding of the bans. Alongside this one they all look like puny also-rams.

As other states have passed the law, ere marriage is begun, examination physical must be required each one, so Mrs. Simmons' bill provides a mental test as well that promises to put a crimp in marriage for a spell.

The Board of Health of Oregon must regulate the rules to ascertain if bride and groom are sensible or fools. Physicians competent to judge will make the mental test and if the couple won't agree that what these say is best to County Court they may appeal in effort to be wed. Here mental experts will decide on what is in each head. If they say "nay," no license is forthcoming to the twain. If they say "yes," the wedding bells may peal forth gay refrain.

Two dollars fifty is the fee the law has specified examiners may legally collect from groom and bride. It sure is costing more and more to up and go get tied, besides the preacher's fee that all good bridegrooms must provide.

But lack of coin would never keep two would-be-weds apart. It's lack of brains in Oregon bids fair to break a heart or two or four or hundreds if the Simmons bill goes through. I wonder what would happen if our states all had it too.

Just take a look among your friends and others dear. Amongst your mere acquaintances and relatives see queer. How many, if the bill were passed, think you would married be if it depended on a 12-year old mentality?

Old Pappy boys of 95 would not be Newly-Weds with pretty dolls of sweet sixteen with nothing in their heads.

Most marriages of movie stars could not so oft occur for passing any mental test would surely them deter and how would all the Polles girls get applied to only sons if they had mental tests to pass. Imagine it!—Great Guns!!!

SUGGESTIONS FOR WOMEN

By Ira L. Hill

1. Your hair is the most important thing. Have it shampooed, and, if necessary, waved the day before visiting the photographer.

2. Dress your hair yourself (don't go to a hairdresser) as you usually wear it, and with-out a net.

3. Use an ordinary street makeup but spare the rouge. Red photographs black.

4. Don't look "dolled up" or consciously pretty.

5. Wear a gown with good lines that you've worn several times before and are used to. If in doubt take several and let the photographer decide.

6. Don't wear spangles or try to look theatrical.

7. Have your picture taken at the time of the day you feel best. With some women it's morning, with others afternoon.

8. Don't have anything unusual in the way of massage or face treatment.

9. In a full length picture, don't wear suede or buckskin shoes; they make the feet look large and thick.

10. Don't dictate to the photographer.

their photographs to reflect strength.

"To bring out this characteristic in my sitters I keep myself in physical trim, so that I find a challenge at each of them."

"Men think they want their pictures to look just like them until they see the results. Then you find they're quite as vain as women."

Then she became organizer and financial secretary of the Dry Federation of Dayton, executive secretary of the Suffrage Association there and organizer for the state of Ohio. After the suffrage victory, she was executive secretary of the Girls' City Club of Cleveland.

League leaders predict that Miss Hite's handling of the Des Moines convention arrangements will be so successful that she will have established the job of "convention manager" as a permanent fixture among the "efficiency" jobs in which women hereafter will excel.

Scalloping is a popular finish not only for gowns, but for bathing suits. It allows for a glimpse of the bloomers beneath.

TAPESTRY TRIMMINGS
 Designs in wool tapestry and in cashmere are seen on the lovely new moire gowns for evening wear. Such trimming offers one way of escape from the almost inevitable beads.

His Conscience Troubled Him

"I know I have done wrong, please forgive me for not doing my duty and writing you before. I am thankful to God for the good remedy He gave you, and would not take $500 for the good the first dose gave me. I have been bothered for many years with gas in my stomach and indigestion, but since taking Mayr's Wonderful Remedy two years ago, have had no such trouble. It is a simple, harmless preparation that removes the catarrhal mucus from the intestinal tract and allays the inflammation which causes practically all stomach, liver and intestinal ailments, including appendicitis. One dose will convince or money refunded. For sale at all druggists."

Woman Accepts Job Of Putting On Convention

Washington—Miss Hazel Hite, of Cincinnati, Cleveland, Dayton and other Ohio points, has shouldered the job of "putting across" the National League of Women Voters' fourth annual convention at Des Moines April 9-14.

Heretofore, it is explained, League leaders who were scheduled to direct the actual work of the conventions have been won to a frazzle in advance by the necessity of themselves looking after the arrangement details. Women orators, expected to sway the conventions with their eloquence, have mounted the platform hoarse and exhausted from the strain of arguing, pleading and coercing baggagemen, printers, hotel managers, decorators, entertainment committees and all the dozens of others whose efforts are necessary for a convention's success.

After these experiences, the League's executive committee decided that at the Des Moines convention no such wearying work should be permitted to sap the energies and dull the inspiration of those scheduled to headline prominence. Some body else would have to be—well, "the goat." Perhaps they said "convention manager," but anyway, they meant the same thing.

The ability in organization and handling detail displayed by Miss Hite in managing the campaigns for the election of Judge Florence Allen of Cleveland to the Ohio supreme court immediately marked her for the job. And she grabbed it eagerly.

For that the sort of variegated, high-pressure job the little black-haired Buckeye woman likes.

After a girlhood in Cincinnati, Miss Hite conducted a general country store in Missouri for eight years.

Speaks Highly of This Home Made Cough Remedy

Says It Acts With Unusual Speed—Loosens the Mucous—Relieves The Irritation and Stops the Cough

Costs Next to Nothing—for a Big Supply

Whenever anyone in my family catches cold and begins to cough and sneeze, and hawk and breathe heavy, it doesn't take me many minutes to fix up a remedy that will drive away all such troubles in double quick time.

It's no secret—anyone can make a half pint of the finest cough medicine in the world for a trifling sum.

Get from any druggist one ounce of Eucalypti (double strength)—to this add a little granulated sugar and enough water to make one half pint—that's all there is to it.

But now you've got a real medicine—mind you—the first spoonful you take acts directly on the membrane of the throat and nose, the tickling ceases almost instantly

The Demand for Automobiles for 1923

WILL BE GREATER THAN DURING ANY OTHER YEAR
IN THE HISTORY OF THE MOTOR CAR INDUSTRY

THIS prediction comes from one of the foremost manufacturers of automobiles and was prompted only after an exhaustive study and analysis of sales of recent months. This thorough sizing up, reveals the fact that December and January, ordinarily termed months of low purchasing---have seen steadily increasing rather than diminishing orders for motor cars. This condition is not true of any one section but is general in all parts of the country.

This significant state of affairs should prompt the wise buyer to place his order with all possible dispatch for it is an easy matter to form some idea of the enormity of the demand that spring will bring.

INSTITUTE WILL TEACH FARMERS TO ADD TO PROFITS

Throngs Expected At Programs At Pegel Hall Next Tuesday, Wednesday

On Feb. 20 and 21 the town of Greenville will again go on record for doing things. A farmers' institute will be held in Pegel hall to discuss subjects common to agricultural welfare, showing how to produce more crops of a higher quality at a reduced cost of production.

Greenville has proven its progressiveness in testing nearly its entire number of milk cows for tuberculosis and has shipped the affected ones to the slaughtering pens, where their disposition is under federal inspection, so that the town is now practically "cleaned up."

Cow testing associations have been organized for culling out the least profitable animals. Better feeding is being done, and a more general understanding of agriculture has been sought than apparently anywhere else in the county.

SCHOOLS HELPING
Last November a remarkably successful one-day school fair was held, and in the evening a program was given by all the schools, showing their excellence and the interest manifested by the rural teachers.

At the coming institute each school teacher in the town will contribute one number to the evening program, and judging by previous experience it is believed that Tuesday, Feb. 20, the hall will again be packed by the people of the town.

The program of the institute will open at 10 o'clock Tuesday morning, Feb. 20, with an address on "Grade the Herd Up, Not Down," by E. A. Umbright of Oshkosh. It will be followed by a talk on "Success With Alfalfa," by Peter C. Schwartz of Waukesha.

The subjects to be discussed at the afternoon program which opens at 1:30 will be:

"Soybeans For Feed and Fertility," E. A. Umbright; "Why Buy Apples? Better Sell 'Em," Peter C. Schwartz; "What Cow Testing Associations Are Doing," E. A. Umbright.

CHILDREN IN PROGRAM
The evening entertainment will open at 8 o'clock with a one-hour program by the schools of the town, and will be followed by an address on "Rout the Pests for Everybody," by E. A. Umbright.

The first speaker at the Wednesday morning session will be E. A. Umbright, whose subject will be, "Clean Up Tuberculosis." F. B. Morrison of the college of agriculture, will discuss, "New Discoveries in Feeding Farm Stock."

The speakers and their subjects at the afternoon session will be: "Betterment of Farm Conditions," by F. F. Bowman; "Practical Winter Dairy Rations," F. B. Morrison; "Mastering Quack and Canadas," L. E. Penneville. Other topics will be added. Then minutes will be allowed each afternoon for institute petitions.

Former State Senator M. M. Culbertson of Medina is local chairman of the institute.

BAD FOR CROOKS
This is going to be a rough world for criminals, when radio is fully developed along lines already planned.

For example, Washington authorities are already contemplating the institution of a national bureau of identification and information, which would utilize radio to help catch criminals. Not only will the descriptions of these lawbreakers be flashed to all parts of the country—and others, too—but their roguish gallery portraits and their finger prints will also be sent out in the same way. These features of radio transmission have been developed so fast that it would not surprise many to hear of their actual adoption into everyday practice in a year or so.

No airplane can carry off an escaping convict faster than radio. The radio signal, traveling with the speed of light, encircles the world in less than a second. All that is needed for the realization of this fact is the erection of a powerful transmitting and receiving stations at important parts of the globe. Then, according to radio authorities, the whole world will be united—in time at least—by radio.

Speed is one of the greatest boons humanity is receiving from radio, and speed is what the lawbreaker does not want to see practiced on him.

HAS 62 PATENTS
New York—In less than nine years, Raymond A. Heising, noted radio engineer, has obtained 62 patents on various inventions for the development of radio.

That is the accomplishment of the farmer boy who came out of the wheat belt of North Dakota, winning a pick in a section gang and finally developing into one of the leading engineers and inventors in the radio field. Heising now is a radio engineer in the research laboratories of the Western Electric Company. He is 35, still typically a northwesterner and a farmer, still putting about his garden during the spring and summer months.

STARTS WITH PICK
Eighteen years ago, Heising's aspirations lay in railroad. On his graduation from high school he went to work with a section gang for a northwestern road and later was promoted to towerman. There his curi-

WEDNESDAY MORNING TO SALT IT
Wednesday morning during the storm I went to the shed for fuel and as I opened the door a bird flew toward me. It dropped at my feet completely exhausted. I took it in the house, wrapped it up for a few minutes and then to the delight of the children it started to hop around and chirp. It puzzled my little daughter to think that I had caught a bird and she finally asked: "Mother, did you have to put salt on his tail?" Mrs. G. U.

ON THE SCREEN

"DOMESTIC RELATIONS" HAS THEME WOMEN DISCUSS
Is it more cruel for a husband to resort to physical violence when he is angry and distrustful of his wife than to inflict mental cruelty upon her?

Just what "mental cruelty" means is a hard question to answer. Many of the most learned judges who daily hear stories of domestic infidelity are called upon to grant divorces on the ground of "mental cruelty"—confess they are at a loss exactly how to define the term.

In Katherine MacDonald's latest Associated First National photoplay, "Domestic Relations," the famed beauty of the screen, has the role of the young wife of a jurist who inflicts pin-pricks of pain upon his wife with his indifference, his sarcastic remarks, his failure to appreciate her love. Any married woman who has experienced it will testify that there is no suffering that hurts so much as does this "mental cruelty" type of marital anguish. The force that was adopted by another husband in "Domestic Relations" when he failed to believe his wife resulted in the man being sent to prison by the same judge, who that very morning had cruelly hurt his own wife with his mental flagellation.

When Miss MacDonald is seen in "Domestic Relations" at The Elite Theatre today and tomorrow local theatregoers will have an opportunity to determine which husband was the more unjust, the jurist, with his acetic indifference to the charms of his beautiful young wife, or the brutal, dullwitted husband who used physical force to emphasize his lack of faith in the good woman who happened to be married to him. It is a nicely balanced question and is sure to provoke an unusual amount of discussion in all walks of life where married men and women fail to properly appreciate and understand each other's likes and dislikes.

osity about telegraphy, was aroused but when he tried to satisfy it by tapping a telegraph line, he was fired. "That started Heising on his course through college, working at odd jobs meantime to earn his way. North Dakota State University graduated him in 1912 with the degree of electrical engineer, after which he took two more years of physics at Wisconsin.

Heising's career actually began with his discovery in 1914 by a Western Electric "scout." He began to work in New York on telephone research. In six weeks he had invented a device for improvement of telephony.

He was transferred to radio telephone development, and at that work he started with designing long distance transmitting circuits. In 1915 he had charge of the first trans-Atlantic telephone tests from Arlington, Va.

Heising's most important invention is the modulation system which is being used today in nearly every large broadcasting station. He invented this in 1916, and next year turned to developing a system of radio communications between airplane and landing stations, and between flying airplanes.

Now Heising is directing his studies toward development of ship-to-shore radiophony, short wave communication and other forms of radio progress.

QUICK DRUG SERVICE
A Bayonne, N. J., woman, suffering from influenza, recently had her physician's prescription filled within ten minutes, because radio was at hand. Her son has a transmission set and a drugist had one. It was easy for the amateurs to communicate and get the service desired.

THICK WALL NO BAR
A wall four feet thick failed to interfere with the reception of a radio message sent through it, in a recent experiment in New York. This was accomplished with the use of a radio accessory invented by Bernays Johnson of New York.

WRONG KIND OF ALCOHOL

The wrong kind of alcohol had been placed in the wrong container to make a car go and as a result considerable damage was done to the shrubbery near the Northwestern depot on Tuesday night about 9:45. When we came along, there was a car stalled on the corner of the boulevard across from Dean's garage and the owner of the car was pouring cold water into what he thought was a frozen radiator. We suggested that he try the engine and by the way he staggered around trying to get hold of the crank. We realized that the alcohol was misplaced. He got it started and rounded the corner on two wheels.

He took Belle's hands, both of them, with a sudden pleasant liking which communicated itself instantly to the vibrant brain behind the hands, and the two were friends at once.

"This is Boyce Clendenning, Belle," said Val, and the man felt a strange surprise at the girl's use of her mother's first name. He was to learn that that was one of their playful intimacies which made the friendship of this mother and daughter so rare and so perfect.

"I know," said Mrs. Hannon. "You are the man John Hannon likes above all others among the ranchers, therefore you are good and worthy of regard. I shall like you, too."

Clendenning laughed, tossed his hat away and sat down to a firm and comfortable visit.

But finally the conversation drifted, as all speech must in the ranchland, to cattle and finally to rustlers. "I suppose you've heard that the Flying Y's had trouble?" he asked.

"No," said Val at once. "What?"

"Lost eighty head of fat steers ready for the driving."

"Good gracious! How?"

"Rustlers, again. Drove them through the Needle's Eye into the Wind Trails. Trail was broad as daylight up to the face of the cliff, then of course it narrowed and was lost on the rock, for the pass into the hills is so narrow that only two steers can enter at the same time. The owners trailed their cattle there—to face two rivers sticking out on either side of the pass—a perfect guard. No man's fool enough to deliberately give his life for a bunch of steers, so they went quietly back to the ranch. But the country's buzzing, you bet, and I'm with it heart and soul."

Val's dark eyes flashed, for she thought of her own loss, word of which had been noised about the country.

"I'm with you, too," she said bitingly, "heart and soul. If the ranchers ride on the rustlers' trail I want to go along. I'd like to kill the man that took the Redstar."

"It's coming, sooner or later, that ride," answered Clendenning. "It must come, or we lay down our hands, beaten. I've been talking to the Atkinson boys and Quinlan and they all favor organization and short shift for the victims we may catch with the goods. It looks like the work of the Black Rustler, that clever little fellow who never meets and but few have ever glimpsed—the smooth, silent chap who works like a machine, with neatness and precision, and rides the fastest horse ever seen in these parts. There are some wonderful stories afloat about that horse—a great bay horse, tall and high-winded, seventeen hands they say, and so fast that those who have caught a far glimpse of him say it runs like a super-horse."

As he talked Val Hannon's eyes became wide, dark pools of retrospection.

"My land!" she said softly. "I believe I've seen that horse—from the top of Mesa Grande one day at sundown. I had ridden the Redstar up and was sitting on the rim, looking across the ranch, when a band of men came out of the north up Santa Leandra way, and one of them rode a wonderful horse—a long red horse that lay down and ran for all the world like Redstar himself. And the rider rose in his stirrups, and waved his hat to me."

"Did he wear a black mask?" asked Clendenning, quickly.

"Why, I couldn't say. He was far and away too far off for me to see his face. I only got the general outline and color—and that mighty meaning of speed."

"It might have been. There is a whisper about that he has been in Santa Leandra several times, but nobody cares to question the Black Rustler."

An hour later he took his leave and the two women sped him from the patio where the sweet spring talked in the stillness.

"Val," said Belle Hannon, quietly. "I'm with you in all your favor, Boyce Clendenning. He is honest, straight and of fixed purpose. If he sets out to catch the Black Rustler, he'll get him sooner or later. If he promises to love, cherish and protect a woman, he'll do so till he dies."

And she did not know with what utter prophecy she spoke.

Val laughed, a ringing peal, and shook her shoulder playfully.

"John Hannon had better be getting back," she said lightly. "Or his wife will be falling in love with his best friend."

The rustlers were coming in with rattle of spur and bit chain, the red veils were beginning to sift down from the blue infinitude above, and the long twilight would soon be falling over Paradise.

Val, standing alone in the patio after Belle had gone indoors, looked down across the empty fields, for the Red Breed grazed no more without a guard, and a sigh lifted her slim breast.

CHAPTER XI

The Lure of the Padre's Garden

There was a time after Clendenning's visit when nothing happened to stir the quiet life at the ranch. Val talked with the riders about the trouble at the Flying Y and Briston had little to say.

In fact there was an unostentatious reticence in their speech about the whole affair. She did not know that every man-jack of them had been filled with a vague dismay over the incident of the dance hall at Santa Leandra, nor that they had listened to faint whispers concerning the armed strangers.

"Holy smoke!" said Perly the loquacious. "If that there Velantrie was th' Black Rustler an' our Val scared his rotten hide, her name'll be all over this country an' I see where this bunch'll do a lot of fightin'."

John Hannon did not return as soon as they had expected him, and time dragged a little. Val rode to the Mission many times, but never again did she encounter a tall stranger in the dry garden, and though she drew the talk artlessly to this stranger a time or two, Father Hillaire was non-communicative and she learned no more about him.

She helped the boys with the breaking of the new string of horses, for John Hannon's daughter was better than a lot of men at that, and her dusky skin burned a tawny shade in the sun, while her cheeks were like roses in the sunset.

The boss had been gone five weeks. August was blazing on the ranchland. The heavens were high and hard with heat and the sun shone continually. But always at dusk there came out of the south the little cool wind that whispered along the levele, and the marvelous colors sifted down from infinitude.

And then one day, Val, riding aimlessly far down Arroyo Pecos way, came up from the cool shade of the ford on Little Antelope, and face to face with two men—Velantrie on a big white horse and a slim dark Mexican with a sullen face.

Instantly Velantrie's face lighted with the smile she had not forgotten, and his broad hat came off with a graceful sweep.

"Miss Hannon!" he cried, and it was well for Father Hillaire's peace of mind that he could not see the look of sudden joy that flashed between them.

"Mr. Velantrie!" mimicked the girl with a laugh. "It's been long since we met in the padre's garden."

"Five it!" said the man, eagerly and simply, and Val blushed.

"Hasn't it?" she asked honestly. "Lord—yes," said Velantrie, softly. For a moment they were silent, looking at each other with the age-old wonder that comes once in every life. Then the man through quickly and sharply of the Church door—and the woman—and became on the instant the indifferent, smiling stranger. Val saw the change and became grave herself.

Velantrie turned to the rider he rode him, a slim, good-looking youth, scarce more than a boy, and waved an eloquent hand.

"Let me present Senor Mesos Pecos," he said gently, "of down Argueta way, bound for the Mission to work for Father Hillaire and incidentally, for vedlock in the chapel."

Val Hannon blushed again, but the look she flashed Velantrie was eloquent of gratitude and gladness and admiration for so successful a quest.

They spoke for a few moments more, but the spontaneity was gone from their meeting, and presently the strangers rode into the Antelope to emerge to the sight of the distant Mission gleaming palely in the light while Val Hannon touched Redcloud and went on toward the south.

Velantrie, strong on the bit of his own desires, went straight to his destination.

"I think, padre," he said "that I shall come but little more to this country. Perhaps no more."

The old man looked at him keenly. "Why?" he asked simply.

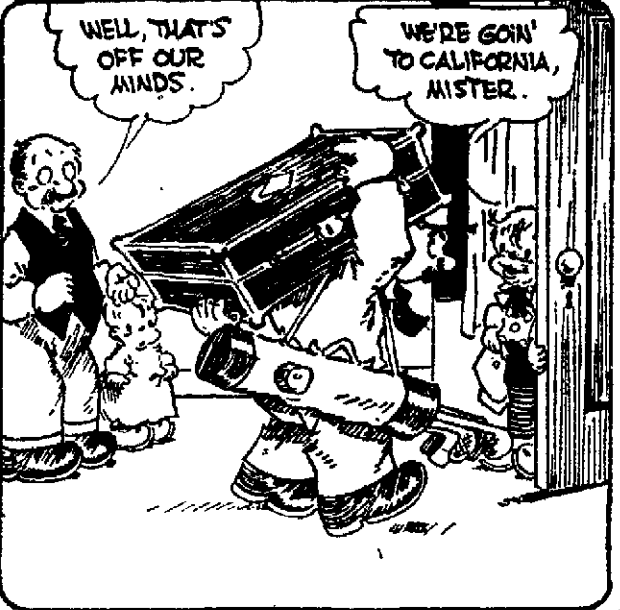

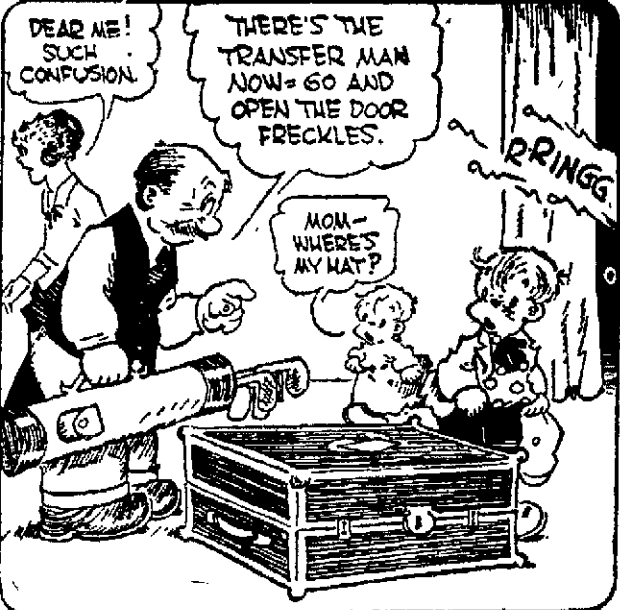

"Because it is not well that I should."

APPEAL TO AD MEN TO REDUCE WASTE IN POSTOFFICES

One-cent Penalty On All Faulty Mail Is Suggested As Remedy

The Associated Advertising Clubs of the World is calling attention of its members to waste caused in the postoffice department by poorly and incorrectly addressed mail and is urging all its members to cooperate in reducing this waste. A bulletin recently issued tells what can be done to remedy conditions. The bulletin says: This is frankly an appeal for your whole-hearted co-operation to bring about a needed reform in advertising practice—first, to eliminate to a great extent a waste and expense in the postoffice department which we as advertising men are a contributing factor to, and second, for our selfish interests in speeding up returns from our advertising by obtaining quicker and more efficient service in the handling of inquiries from our advertising through the postoffice.

The postmaster general proposed a penalty of one cent for each piece of mail involving a loss of $1,740,000 a year. Advertising men are at fault in the following ways:

ADVERTISING AGENCIES
On approximately 50 per cent of advertisements placed by the advertising agencies for their clients in newspapers and magazines, the client's name and city only appear at the bottom of the advertisement. The street address is omitted. Thus all inquiries sent to have the address incomplete—and the postoffice has to give directory service—involving an expense to the postoffice and delaying the mail 8 to 24 hours and sometimes even longer.

USE NUMBER AND STREET ADDRESS COM-PLETE ON ALL ADVERTISEMENTS
You write for clients—do not use building address or street intersection. Postoffice clerks know street numbers only and all mail sorting in the postoffice is on this basis.

ADVERTISING MANAGERS
Cooperate with and instruct your advertising agencies to use street address and street number on all your publication advertising—and likewise on all your direct mail—envelopes, order blanks and return letters.

ON ALL ADVERTISEMENTS
On all advertisements sent to you for publication—either from the advertising agency or the advertiser direct—call their attention to the absence of street addresses, where it is omitted, and tell them how important it is to have the street address and number in order to insure prompt delivery of all inquiries that are created among the readers of your publication. If publishers ever expect to get reduced zone rates on their publications, they must do their part to eliminate a great existing waste—creating in part a postoffice deficit.

DIRECT MAIL ADVERTISERS
On all letterheads, posters, signs, broadsides and general circulars, use street address. Instruct all your salespeople and creative departments to tell to their customers about the importance of street address on all printed matter and advertising literature. Put this into effect everywhere regardless of the fact that the customer may be a big concern occupying a block square, get a street address, just the same.

Remember—a large amount of first class mail is sorted by railway mail clerks. They are required to know street numbering schemes in the cities of their runs, and all mail which they find numbered is thrown to a miscellaneous handle without a definite street name can be carried to the main post office, to look up street address, with consequent delay of 8 to 24 hours.

On the other hand, mail with street address, is quickly dispatched to substations for carrier delivery.

Read what the postmaster general has to say, and read every word of it, because you, we, and all advertising men must do our part to stop this practice, for the good of advertising and better postoffice service.

"In my recent recommendation to express I proposed that a fee of one cent should be charged to each piece of improperly addressed mail accorded directory service.

The handling of improperly addressed mail is one of the most annoying and expensive problems which the postal service faces at the present time—and despite our constant endeavors to impress upon business houses and advertising men in particular the importance of street addresses on all advertisements which result in developing a large quantity of inquiry mail, the fact remains that the quantity of this mail which is pouring daily into the mail rooms over the country is stupendous and an almost needless drain upon the postal establishment.

"In a recent study of the problem in the Washington, D. C., postoffice we discovered that for a six day period it was necessary to give directory service to 39,484 pieces of mail.

"The magnitude of the task performed by the directory service is indicated by larger postoffices. At these

RECEIVE FIRST NEW LINCOLN P. O. STAMPS

A consignment of the 1922 series of 3-cent Lincoln postage stamps, the first to arrive in this city, have been received by the United States stamp exchange, 813 Clark-st. They were first issued on Monday at Covinsville, Kentucky, Lincoln's birthplace, and at Washington, D. C., to philatelists. The stamps bear the postmark of Washington, 11 a. m. They will be sold at the local postoffice when the present supply of 3 cent stamps, 1912 series, has been exhausted.

offices alone it required the work of 585 employees, working eight hours daily, to handle mail requiring this special attention, and the annual cost in salaries was $1,000,916. The average number of pieces of mail matter given directory service daily was 376,381, and the average cost for each piece of such mail was $0.0087. Using these figures as a basis, it is estimated that the total number of letters given this special treatment at all postoffices during the past fiscal year, reached the stupendous total of 200,000,000. The cost of handling them was approximately $1,740,000.

"The department in urging a remedy for this undesirable condition is not actuated by wholly selfish motives, because the giving of territory service retards the delivery of mail all along the line to the consequent irritation of patrons of the service.

MAY REFUSE MAIL
"While, at first thought, it may appear that the enactment of a law to collect a fee from the addresses of improperly addressed mail would, in effect, be exacting a fine from the innocent, nevertheless it is believed that this is the most effective way to reach the source of the difficulty.

"The addressee is protected by his privilege to refuse mail which carries an additional charge for postage, in which event the mail is returned to the sender or is sent to the dead letter office. On the other hand, if the mailer understood that his neglect to keep his advertising and printed matter thoroughly complete with street address imposed a penalty either on himself or his correspondent, the availability of improperly addressed mail would be checked because the bulk of it originates with the large mailer and does not consist of the personal correspondence of individuals."

These facts were submitted to the National Advertising commission in session at Washington, D. C., Jan. 8, 1923, unanimously approved and ordered distributed to all departments of organized advertising and advertising clubs.

INFANT MORTALITY BEING REDUCED

Greater Use of Milk Reflected in Better Health of Babies

The shocking infant mortality rate of many countries is slowly but surely being cut down as mothers, doctors, nurses and authorities everywhere are educated in the proper way of rearing children. For many years the United States, for instance, regarded this preventable decimation with apathy, believing it to be the inevitable accompaniment of modern life. In 1900 those who were aware that the lives of countless thousands of infants might be saved by the application of intelligence began the campaign for betterment. Statistics prove that the number of children saved by attention to the proper food and care of infants is almost unbelievable. Milk has played a spectacular part in this army of reclaimed children. Ignorant mothers have been taught that their babies cannot live without it. The results have been satisfying. To milk belongs much of the credit for thousands of saved lives.

Lime in Milk

Cows need lime—so do babies. Cows get their lime from their feed; babies from the milk they drink. Dairymen are paying more attention to the possible lack of lime where their live-stock are concerned, as it has been pointed out that since the cow gives off such a valuable supply of lime in her milk, she in turn must be supplied with lime in order that this mineral shall never become deficient in her product. The legumes—clover, alfalfa, soybeans, peas and the like, are richest in lime. As we humans are unable to eat these green foods as they naturally grow, it is cause for thankfulness that the dairy cow eats them for us and passes them on.

SHAH OF PERSIA IS GARLANDED IN INDIA

By Associated Press
Bombay—The Shah of Persia, who has just ended a brief visit to India, was given an elaborate ovation of welcome and loyalty by Persian residents of this city. His chief purpose in coming to Bombay was to call upon certain relatives who now live here. Representatives of all communities connected in any way with Persia, whether subjects of the Shah or not, took part in the welcoming reception. The Shah's party, which included several Parsi women, were welcomed with sherbet in the old Persian custom. Prayers were offered for the long life of the sovereign and the prosperity of his country.

The address of welcome was read by Sir Hormusji Cowasji Adenwalla, President of the Iran League, who called attention to recent changes and predicted a happy future for Persia in view of the liberalizing influences which are actuating the present constitutional government. The text of the address, enclosed in a casket of silver mounted with gold on mahogany, was presented to the Shah amid much shouting and cheering. The Shah was then garlanded.

Cincinnati — The International Stereotypers and Electrotypers union filed an injunction suit against Clifford Meyer, member of the union, to ascertain whether labor unions can bind members by contract not to accept employment in nonunion shops.

"The Coffee is Excellent"

An original "live flame" roasting process seals all the flavor in the bean. An air-tight metal container maintains the original flavor and freshness of the coffee, so that all the exquisite full flavor goes into your cup.

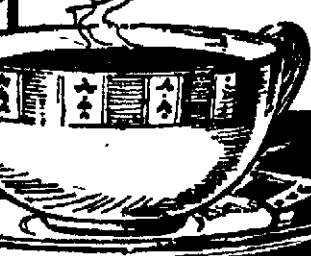

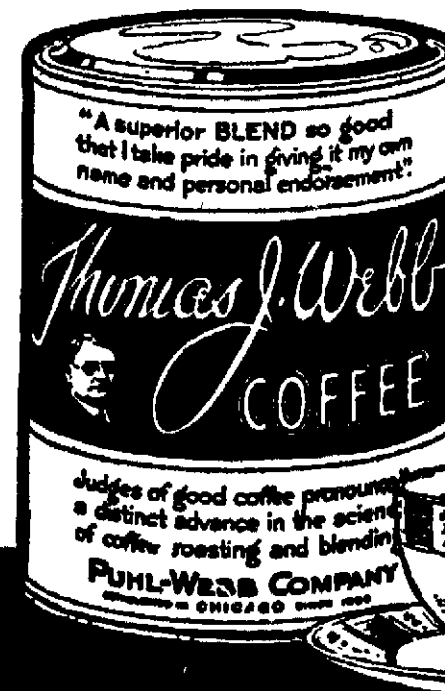

Thomas J. Webb Coffee may be had ground or in the bean. The ground is especially recommended, because of uniformity in just the right size, and all the chaff is removed.

A comment often heard at the Palmer House of Chicago, famed throughout the nation for its service and the delicious dishes on its menu. To maintain the high standard set years ago, the greatest care is used in selecting the best in food, for it is here the most discriminating dine and it is they who say "the coffee is excellent."

And it is Thomas J. Webb Coffee, of course.

You may have this same good coffee in your home — just get it from your grocer. You pay no more for it than for ordinary coffee. In fact, it is an economical coffee, for you get more cups to the pound. Try it!

WOLPIN AND DUFFY BATTLE TO DRAW IN BOXING MATCH

Windy City Scrapper Outboxes Appleton Boy But Is Floored Twice

"First Nighters" Give Fans Real Kick Of Show In Preliminaries With Fast Milling And K. O.

POST-CRESCENT DECISIONS
Billie Wolpin, Appleton, Jack Duffy, Chicago, ten rounds, draw.

Ray Roberts, Appleton won from Gene Frechetto, Neenah, Mike Referee stopped fight in fourth round.

Billie McCarthy, Appleton, won from Lee Rockner on foul in third round.

Phil Zwick, Kaukauna, defeated King Schwabs, Hortonville, in four rounds.

Braving the sub-zero blasts 500 or more boxing fans made a grand attempt to revive the fight game in Appleton by filling the majority of seats in the Armory. G. G. and two knockdowns were the result of good milling. They saw Billie Wolpin, formerly of Minneapolis and who is claiming Appleton as his home now and Jack Duffy, a Windy City middleweight, box ten rounds to a draw in the feature attraction. Messers Wolpin and Duffy left the 500 or more fans torn in factions with each telling the other that their favorite won.

Duffy outboxed the Appleton newcomer but two knockdowns in the sixth were decisive enough to give Wolpin a draw. These scores were claimed by Wolpin's followers were strong enough to give their favorite the fight.

DUFFY OUTBOXES WOLPIN
Duffy carried six rounds. Wolpin had three, the third, fourth and sixth. The fifth round was a draw and the Chicago battler had the rest.

The other bouts were evidently decisive. The second preliminary fight went to Billie McCarthy as the result of a foul by Lee Rockner, when the latter struck after the latter had fallen in the third round.

PRELIMS ARE EXCITING
The preliminaries furnished more excitement than the main event and certainly had more action. The middleweights were inclined to clinch a trifle often and tired early. Wolpin had a chance to win his battle in the sixth round after he had floored the visitor twice. Duffy left his chin wide open but Wolpin was unable to use his right to any advantage.

Duffy entered the ring at 158 and one-quarter pounds. Wolpin who was weighed in late in the evening tipped the beams at 163 and three-quarters.

WARNED BY REFEREE
Duffy led off in the first round. He dished out short punches to Wolpin's body and some rights to the jaw. Wolpin retaliated with a right to the jaw which gave evidence of a great deal of power behind it. The lads clinched and Referee Dauber Yaeger warned the pair to get into more action. It was Duffy's round by a slight margin.

The second round was also carried by Duffy. The boys started off a bit faster. Duffy swung some wicked punches to the body. Both aimed at one another's heads but ducked severe punishment. Duffy felt his way with his left and followed up with the right mitt. Wolpin came back with stiff punches to the jaw.

Wolpin took the next round and drew the first blood. He had Duffy's nose bleeding. They exchanged punches in the fourth with Wolpin hitting (but not hard punches. He carried the round.

Duffy began using his left in the fifth. Wolpin came back with what looked like a haymaker. It was square on the mouth. Duffy's clever ducking saved him the rest of the way with the round ending in a draw.

SIXTH IS EXCITING
The sixth was the most exciting round. They felt each other out. Wolpin suddenly swung his right to Duffy's jaw. Duffy shot in the corner of the ring and nearly took a backward summersault. Referee Yaeger started to exit. Duffy arose at the count of six and the pair romped to the middle of the ring when a blow to the jaw sent Duffy to the corner again—but this was for less than a second.

WOLPIN'S ROUND
With his head down Duffy withstood the assault by Wolpin for a minute. Wolpin used both hands on the fighters head and body but he didn't have the kick to put the haymaker over. In fact he nearly threw himself out, hacking away at his opponent. Duffy came out and was giving Wolpin a bit of worry when the bell rang. Wolpin took this round by a wide margin.

Duffy showed great recuperating powers when he came back for the next four rounds and outboxed the Appleton lad. He won the seventh and continued to force the fighting for the first half in the eighth. Wolpin was hitting few punches but they seemed to sting the Chicago boy badly. The eighth stanza was a poor demonstration of boxing. The fans shouted for more action.

They got some of it in the ninth. Duffy cut up Wolpin's body with hard punches and terrific cuts to the stomach pit. Wolpin landed rights but he was outboxed.

In the tenth frame Wolpin discovered his left hook and used it. But he was getting too tired to make it effective. Duffy showed wear and tear at the lads tried to finish up the final round with a bit of speed.

PRELIMS ARE GOOD
Whatever dash and daring there was missing in the main affair the prelims certainly had 'em.

In the curtain raiser Appleton got his first view of Billie Zwick of Kaukauna and brother of Jack Zwick who was better known. Zwick got a good start in the fight game by winning from King Schwabs of Hortonville, week won all of the four rounds.

Schwabs showed up well but needs a lot of lessons. Zwick was backed by a large delegation from Kaukauna. Zwick floored Schwabs twice in the first round. Schwabs finished up strong and if it wasn't for the earlier knockdowns the round would have been his.

Zwick smiled but showed no love in the second stanza and he gave Schwabs a beating. Schwabs entered the ring at 112 pounds and Young Zwick at 106½ but the Kaukauna product had the advantage in a longer reach and greater height.

Schwabs hit hard to the body but a strong finish by Zwick gave him the third round.

Zwick resembled much his bigger brother in the fourth. He led with a left and followed with a right to the jaw. He also swatted a number of hard ones to the body. Schwabs' willingness to mix showed that he was both game and tough.

ROCKNER VS MCCARTHY
Lee Rockner, weighing 154½ pounds and Billie McCarthy, 155½ only went three rounds of their six-round scheduled bout.

McCarthy had a slight shade in the first two rounds but in the third he went to his knees while the men were mixing at the ropes and Rockner slugged him hard while he was on the canvas. He went down on his head while Rockner stood in the of the ring in a belligerent attitude until Yaeger waver him to his corner. It was a plain foul by Rockner.

Both lads set so terrific a pace at the beginning of their contest that it was evident that they would never last the six rounds. Rockner led off. The boys showed they were wild and in a hurry. A right to the jaw sent McCarthy to the ropes but McCarthy sent himself flying into Rockner. He punched away at Rockner and set the gore flowing from his nose. Both boys looked as if they were trying to annihilate one another.

Both were tired in the second round due to the fast pace in which they started. The second round was nearly a repetition of the first and McCarthy was in the lead.

The punch that sent McCarthy to the floor early in the third was a right to his knees. Rockner, evidently forgetting the all important rule, snatched McCarthy another one. Referee Yaeger stepped in as McCarthy crumpled on the floor. The fight was over. McCarthy recuperated quickly.

FRECHETTO GIVES UP
Ray Roberts forced Gene Frechetto to give up the battle in the fourth round of their scheduled six. Frechetto dislocated his hip but he was also helpless in the third when he was knocked down but the bell saved him at the count of five.

Frechetto entered the ring at 142½. Roberts, a trifle taller, scaled 140½. Roberts floored Gene at the start. Frechetto went down on one knee. Gene came back with rights and lefts. Roberts neglected to follow up several good blows. It was Roberts' round.

The second round was speedy with both lads swinging at each other like a pair of mad school boys. Roberts took the round.

Roberts continued to lead in the third. He had Frechetto rocking under a rain of gloves on the head. Roberts was helpless for a while himself. After stating a brief comeback Frechetto suddenly crumpled to the floor. He was on his knees. Yaeger began to count. Fred Bushey, timekeeper, rang the bell as the referee reached five. Frechetto got up dazed and slipped to the floor again but he managed to walk back to his corner unassisted.

Frechetto was wobbling in the fourth and it was in this stanza that he hurt his hip. The injury was the result of a previous dislocation in a wrestling match. He said after the fight. Frechetto looked at the referee to stop the fight. Roberts was unwilling to punch at what seemed to be a helpless opponent but he went to it until Referee Yaeger made him stop.

HOUSE IS FAIR
Due to the clogged up roads the house was somewhat limited Thursday night. Approximately $800 in cash was taken in, which hardly covered expenses, according to Promoter Elmer Johnson. The crowd was enthusiastic. All the balcony seats were filled but there were many raps on the main floor. Considering the weather, however, the show was a success.

Mark Catlin, Appleton attorney, and former football star, was the official announcer for the Wisconsin Boxing Commission, which was unable to send down one of its members due to the traffic tieup.

Wolpin declared after the fight that he wasn't in the best condition and that he lost a great deal of the good he gained in the training in Milwaukee on the way back to Appleton in which he encountered some hardships on account of the blizzards.

EMKE AND CHINSKI TO MEET IN MARINETTE
Milwaukee—Billy Emke, who leaped into favor when he brought Jimmy Nuss up short with a right sock to the chin, is about to earn the reward of his efforts. Emke has been matched to meet Steve Chinski at Marinette on March 6. Steve saw Emke flatter Nuss, but the south sinner is not a bit frightened. The local crop of middles have been fighting shy of Steve since he returned from the east. Steve put up a good showing against Johnny Ripon, but says he did not get any credit for his work.

GREEN BAY CRACK TEAMS FALL DOWN IN STATE TOURNEY

Beaumonts And Bellevues Roll Low Scores—Antigo Quint Is Fifth

Green Bay—With the failure of two of Green Bay's most consistent five-man pin stars—the Bellevues and the Beaumonts—to cut in the leaders' column, at Thursday's festivities also went flickering the last apparent hope of any local five-man squad receiving a slice of the prize money. Doped to win a place among the pin setters, both teams fell down unable to reach the ranks of even the tenth place holders. Plenty of splits and bad breaks ruined the locals chances.

To Frey's Lunch, of Antigo goes the honor of jumping into fifth place in the five men. The Antigo restaurateurs scored a total of 2,918 maps, showing the Royal Printers, Milwaukee, back to sixth place. The northwesterners were the first to score two totals over 1,000 pins collecting 1,003 in the second and 1,034 in the final. A poor start of 87 held down the Antigo representatives to what otherwise would have been a sure first. T. Mexas was high point getter of the quintet scoring 632.

With but two days to go before the termination of the tournament, few changes are expected. Pin stars who were stalled by the blizzard were able to arrive in time to fill their schedule but did not disturb the leaders to any appreciable degree.

Additional Madison and Green Bay representatives will launch their attack Friday on the pins.

The only other bowling worthy of special mention was 618 pins by Stoegbauer in the singles. This is six pins less than the number piled up by Retson on Wednesday. Thursday's accomplishments follow:

TONIGHT'S GAMES
Appleton at Oshkosh.
Sheboygan at Manitowish.
Fond du Lac at West Green Bay.
East Green Bay at Oconto.

Coach A. C. Denney and his two squads of basketballers were due to leave on the Northwestern road at 4:10 Friday afternoon for Oshkosh where they were to play with the Sav-dust City high school team in the normal school gymnasium in a contest that will decide second place winner in the Fox River high school conference. Both the second and first teams of the Blue and Orange are scheduled for games this evening.

The trip Friday is the last of the season for the Appleton players. There are two games left on the schedule. West Green Bay, Feb. 23 and Neenah, March 2, but both will be played in Armory C.

DETERMINED TO WIN
Appleton is determined to win for two reasons. First, it will want to average the 11 to 8 beating, the only one this year and second, a victory will entrench Appleton in second place and might place it in a tie for first with

BABE SOCKS HOMERS IN NEW YANKEE PARK

New York—Babe Ruth is satisfied that the new Yankee baseball stadium holds no terror for him. He swung his favor but out there for a few minutes on Thursday, knocked several balls over the outfield stands.

He will leave on Thursday for Hot Springs Ark., to take the baths before joining the club, March 7, at New Orleans for the spring workout.

Wally Schang, veteran catcher, and all pitchers of the Yanks also will leave on Thursday for Hot Springs.

WISCONSIN CAGERS WHIP MICHIGAN FIVE, 18 TO 15
Ann Arbor, Mich.—The University of Wisconsin defeated the University of Michigan 18 to 15 in an exciting basketball battle. The defeat is a distinct blow to the Wolverines who have been near the top of the Big Ten race all season.

Sheboygan should the Chair City five lose to Manitowish.

Oshkosh suffered only one beating this year and that was in the hands of the present leaders, Sheboygan. Oshkosh piled up 178 points and its opponents' 81.

REED IS MISSING
In the game Friday night the Blue and Orange will meet practically the same lineup that journeyed here some months ago with the exception of left forward which is being held down now alternatively by Johnson and Novotny. Reed, the forward star, was graduated last semester. Hotchkiss is right forward.

Coach Denney will have Heidema and Mills at the forward posts. Mills is suffering from a cold and there is some fear about his ability to play the entire game. Lutz or Kohl will be shot in as subs. Captain "Rod" Ashman will face Ives at center. The guarding work will be left to "Pete" Briese and Haggen. Coach Abrahamson will present in these positions, Baruch and Strejzewski.

RIPON IS UNABLE TO COME HERE FOR CAGE GAME TONIGHT

Storm Has Cut Off Radio Communication With College Town

Ripon college basketball team be unable to come to Appleton night to play its scheduled game. Lawrence college because the has cut off all railroad communication with the little college.

Coach Sundt of the Red and team notified Coach H. D. Moe of Lawrence that his team was unable to come tonight but was willing to play here next Tuesday night if suitable arrangements be made. Efforts now are being to book the armory for next Tuesday.

Failure of Ripon to find me reaching here is a disappointment. The Lawrence team which is in the shape for a hard fight. The were confident of ending their season with a win and were tired for action tonight.

Light a Harvester

FOR over ten years it has been a wonderful cigar. You don't have to study its color and shape to know its excellence. You don't have to smell it to be certain of good tobaccos. The Harvester label tells you all that in advance.

Harvester's success has been won by its own true merit. The filler—a rare blend of all-Havana. The wrapper—choicest of shade-grown leaf. Workmanship—Consolidated's own. It's a cigar, men, a real one.

WOLPIN AND DUFFY BATTLE TO DRAW IN BOXING MATCH

Windy City Scrapper Outboxes Appleton Boy But Is Floored Twice

First Nighters" Give Fans Real Kick Off Show In Preliminaries With Fast Milling And K. O.

POST-CRESCENT DECISIONS: Billie Wolpin, Appleton, Jack Duffy, Chicago, ten rounds, draw.

Ray Roberts, Appleton won from Gene Frechietto, Neenah, Mich. Referee stopped fight in fourth round.

Billie Wolpin, Appleton, won from Lee Rockner on foul in third round.

Phil Zwick, Kaukauna, defeated King Schwabe, Hortonville, in four rounds.

Draving the sub-zero blasts 500 or more boxing fans made a grand attempt to revive the fistie game in Appleton by filling the majority of the seats in the Armory G arena and were repaid with 21 rounds of good fighting. They saw Billie Wolpin, formerly of Minneapolis and who is claiming Appleton as his home now and Jack Duffy, a Windy City middle weight, box ten rounds in a draw in feature attraction. Newsies Wolpin and Duffy left the 500 or more torn in factions with each telling other that their favorite won.

Duffy outboxed the Appleton new-comer but two knockdowns in the fifth were decisive enough to give Wolpin a draw. These same two knockdowns are claimed by Wolpin's followers as being enough to save his favorite the fight.

DUFFY CARRIED SIX ROUNDS. Wolpin carried six rounds, Wolpin three, the third, fourth and sixth. A fifth round was a draw and the sixth round had the rest.

The other bouts were evidently decided. The second preliminary fight in which Billie Wolpin was the result of a foul by Lee Rockner, when the erstwhile boxer after the latter had fallen in the third round.

PRELIMINARS ARE EXCITING. The preliminaries furnished more excitement than the main event and were really had more action. The middleweights were inclined to clinch a trifle and tired early. Wolpin had a chance to win his battle in the fourth round after he had floored the other twice. Duffy left his chin wide open but Wolpin was unable to use right to any advantage.

Duffy entered the ring at 158 and quarter pounds. Wolpin was weighed in late in the evening tipped the scales at 163 and three-quarters.

GREEN BAY CRACK TEAMS FALL DOWN IN STATE TOURNEY

Beaumonts And Bellevues Roll Low Scores—Antigo Quint Is Fifth

Green Bay—With the failure of two of Green Bay's most consistent five-man pin stars—the Bellevues and the Beaumonts—to cut in the leaders' column at Thursday's festivities also went flickering the last apparent hope of any local five man squad receiving a slice of the prize melon.

Doped to win a place among the pace setters, both teams fell down unable to reach the ranks of even the tenth place holders.

Plenty of splits and bad breaks ruined the locals chances.

To Frey's Lunch, of Antigo goes the honor of jumping into fifth place in the five man tourney.

The Antigo restauranters scored a total of 2,918 maps, showing the Royal Printers, Milwaukee, back to sixth place.

The north-ers were the first to score two totals of over 1,000 pins collecting 1,009 in the second and 1,034 in the final.

A poor start of 877 held down the Antigo representatives to what otherwise would have been a sure first.

Texas was high point getter of the quintet scoring 632.

With but two days to go before the termination of the tourney, few changes are expected.

Pin stars who were stalled by the blizzard were able to arrive in time to fill their schedule but did not disturb the leaders to any appreciable degree.

Additional Madison and Green Bay representatives will launch their attack Friday on the pins.

Stoegbauer Shoots 618 In Singles As Best Work On Thursday

A 1,138 mark by Felt and Strutz in the doubles was the best piece of work of Appleton bowlers at the state tournament in Green Bay Thursday.

This is 15 pins better than the shooting by Jacobson and Dawson which was the best in this division thus far.

The only other bowling worthy of special mention was 618 pins by Stoegbauer in the singles.

This is six pins less than the number piled up by Peterson on Wednesday.

TONIGHT'S GAMES Appleton at Oshkosh. Sheboygan at Manitowish. Fond du Lac at West Green Bay. East Green Bay at Oconto.

Coach A. C. Denney and his two squads of basketballers were due to leave on the Northwestern road at 11:00 Friday afternoon for Oshkosh where they were to play with the Shaw-City high school team in the normal school gymnasium in a contest that will decide second place winner in the Fox River high school conference.

Both the second and first teams of the Blue and Orange are scheduled for games this evening.

The trip Friday is the last of the season for the Appleton players.

There are two games left on the schedule. West Green Bay, Feb. 23 and Neenah, March 2, but both will be played in Armory G.

RIPON IS UNABLE TO COME HERE FOR CAGE GAME TONIGHT

Storm Has Cut Off Railroad Communication With College Town

Ripon college basketball team will be unable to come to Appleton tonight to play its scheduled game with Lawrence college because the storm has cut off all railroad communication with the little college town.

Coach Sunitt of the Red and White team notified Coach H. D. McChesney of Lawrence that his team would be unable to come tonight but would be willing to play here next Tuesday night if suitable arrangements could be made.

Efforts now are being made to book the armory for next Tuesday.

Failure of Ripon to find means of reaching here is a disappointment to the Lawrence team which is in good shape for a hard fight.

The boys were confident of ending their home season with a win and were tuned up for action tonight.

C. OF C. SANCTION IS REFUSED TO TWO UNSOUND CONCERNS

Directors Vote Also To Send Delegations To Hearings In Madison

Reports on two industries which want to locate in Appleton and the legislative hearings on tax and unemployment compensation bills in Madison on Tuesday and Wednesday were the important matters up at the biweekly meeting of the chamber of commerce directors at Conway hotel Thursday evening. A committee was appointed to arrange to send a delegation from Appleton to Madison during the hearings on the Huber unemployment compensation bill on Tuesday and the Severson and Dahl tax bills on Wednesday. Oshkosh and Fond du Lac will send delegations and it is thought that other cities will do likewise.

The industrial reports presented by Hugh G. Corbett, executive secretary of the chamber had to do with the financial standing of two concerns which want to come into Appleton. Mr. Corbett found that each company wishes to sell $50,000 to $200,000 worth of stock to Appleton people and that neither has a sound financial standing. One man who is the promoter of the largest of the two industries has been known as a professional promoter since about 1900 and hasn't a successful enterprise to his credit.

KEEP OUT UNDESIRABLES
This field of the chamber of commerce is particularly active in keeping out undesirable industries out of the city. Mr. Corbett's report showed that these same two industries have applied to practically every chamber of commerce in the state for a location and that one of them is already seriously involved in financial difficulties. The matter of legislation was taken up mostly from the standpoint of the effect on the city, although it will affect the individual as well. The Dahl tax bill, which would give 50 per cent of the income tax from a community to the state 10 per cent to the county and leave only 40 per cent in the city is considered especially unwise from the standpoint of raising the city taxes. The Severson bill is also a tax bill of which the directors do not approve and they are not in favor of the Huber unemployment bill which was discussed at great length at the Master Builders' convention here in January.

Other matters of business were discussed. Two letters, one from the Milwaukee Journal concerning tourist advertising and another concerning the establishment of an information bureau, were turned over to the publicity committee of which Louis Bonini is chairman.

Plans for the annual meeting on March 12 were discussed and a committee was appointed to make arrangements. A speaker will be secured and every effort will be made to make the meeting its usual success.

WORKING GIRLS' FRIEND GIVEN CONGRESS SEAT

Mrs. Mae Ella Nolan Succeeds To Husband's Place In Lower House

BY GENE COHN
Special to Post-Crescent

San Francisco—Working girls of America have a "lady friend" in Congress now—an ex-member of their sisterhood of toil.

And politics has something entirely new in the election of Mrs. Mae Ella Nolan.

MRS. MAE ELLA NOLAN

Nolan to the seat of her husband, the late Congressman John I. Nolan.

Voters of the Fifth California district have declared the wife of a public official, who has kept in touch with his affairs, should succeed him to office. That was the direct issue in the campaign.

"They have not elected me, so much as they have declared in favor of the work my husband was carrying on when death took him," is Mrs. Nolan's attitude.

"I was a working girl when I married John. I know what work is. That's why my heart is with the working people—the girls, the child laborers, all the masses.

"I favor light wines and beer. You see, I'm a liberal. Every one knows John was."

President Harding may have originated the "front porch" campaign, but Mrs. Nolan introduced the "front parlor" campaign.

She made no speeches, appeared at no meetings and met interested people only in her home.

The campaign was conducted entirely by friends of her late husband.

Werner in Chicago

George P. Werner, general secretary of the Y. M. C. A. left for Chicago Friday noon to attend a meeting of the Y. M. C. A. cooperating committees of international home and international foreign work to be held Saturday.

WILL PUBLISH 'Y' REPORTS FOR YEAR

Association Making Survey Of Dormitory Affiliations And Rates

Reports submitted by the employed staff at the meeting of the board of directors of the Y. M. C. A. Thursday afternoon were of such general interest that it was decided to have them published in condensed form. It was decided also to publish the detailed financial report for the short year May 1 to Dec. 31, 1932. The brevity was caused by changing the beginning of the fiscal year to the beginning of the calendar year. In addition the complete budget for 1933 is to be printed.

A survey of the 70 men rooming in the Y. M. C. A. dormitories disclosed that the average age is 21 years. A report is now being prepared on their employment and church affiliations which will be submitted at a later meeting of the board. As to the rates for men as compared with seven other Y. M. C. A. buildings in Wisconsin, an extension of time was granted for making the report.

It was decided to send a delegation of directors to Milwaukee on March 2 to attend the religious work institute to be conducted by John H. Mott and several assistants.

K. C. GIRLS TO HAVE CAGE TOURNEY AT "Y"

Girl employees of the sorting room of the Kimberly mill of the Kimberly Clark company will have an elimination basketball tournament at the Y. M. C. A. on Saturday evening. Members of the teams and their friends numbering 25, will have a supper at Kimberly at 5 o'clock which will be followed by the game in Appleton.

The curtain raiser game will be played by two teams from Appleton Women's club, one of which is made up entirely of girls from the Kimberly Clark company. Then four teams from the sorting room will have two games and the winners will play for the championship.

This group of employees has been practicing together during the noon hours and is taking this opportunity to promote social gatherings. It is expected that other teams from the mill will challenge this group.

COZEY TO HAVE CONTEST IN PHONOGRAPHIC MOODS

A phonographic mood contest will be the feature of the Sunday afternoon cozey at Appleton Women's clubroom. Miss Esther Dittmer and Miss Kathleen McCabe, both of whom are employed in a local music store, will conduct the contest and also play a program of selections for the girls. Miss Eleanor Halls will have charge of the afternoon program and Miss Emily Adams in the evening.
